Senate Blocks Plan Menacing Federal Posts

Over-Quota State and District Clause Is Stricken.

Thousands Affected by Project; Fight in House Looms.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The "appointment clause," threatening the jobs of thousands of Federal workers from the District and over-quota States, yesterday was stricken from the independent offices supply bill by a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

Minus the quota feature, the $535,000,000 bill, largely unchanged from the form it passed the House, will be laid before the full Senate Appropriations Committee at 10:30 a. m. today.

The clause was dropped by a unanimous subcommittee vote after members were told it meant prior dismissal of workers from States already having their apportioned number of workers. Senator James F. Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, sponsored the motion to drop the provision.

Rough Road Ahead.

Even if the full appropriations committee concurs in its subcommittee's action this morning, and the Senate accepts their recommendations, there is still plenty of rough going ahead for those seeking to kill the clause.

Some members of the House Appropriations Committee believe the issue of sufficient magnitude to cause a conference deadlock.

The House approved the quota clause on recommendation of its Appropriations Committee, which, in so recommending, reversed a plea of its subcommittee for nullification of the clause. House Appropriations Chairman James P. Buchanan, opposed to the provision, made a futile fight to rewrite it.

Yesterday's Senate subcommittee action was first fruit of the announced intention of Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia; Senator Millard E. Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, and others to defeat the provision. They argued it would operate against Government efficiency.

I. C. C. Fund Approved.

The only other material change made yesterday by the Senate subcommittee put $150,000 more in the bill to permit the Interstate Commerce Commission to continue to hold hearings in the field.

Authority for department heads to order rotative furloughs or dismiss

Flaming City

Second Great Maine Fire in 8 Days Takes Homes of 700 in Auburn.

Auburn, Me., May 15 (U.P.).—The second conflagration to devastate a Maine city within eight days laid waste the New Auburn section of this city today, wiping out the homes of at least 700 persons.

From a sudden and mysterious start in a garage and filling station it spread swiftly in a series of gasoline explosions, and, given impetus by a 30-mile wind, enveloped a one-mile front, three-fourths of a mile deep, in this shoe and textile city. It finally

VETERANS TO START SESSION HERE TODAY

Farm and Jobless Aid, as Well as Bonus, Planned as Program Goal.

A three-point program will be considered by the bonus army today when it convenes at the Washington Auditorium for the first session of its convention in this city.

The agenda was the culmination of a number of stormy sessions held beneath two huge army tents at the veterans' Fort Hunt camp. Factional differences presumably ended, the era of "harmony" among the bonus seeking groups established yesterday morning, was endangered on three separate occasions during the meetings.

In addition to the payment of the bonus, the veterans today will vote on resolutions which will place their organization in sympathy with the plight of the farmers and of the unemployed. This program also calls for immediate restoration of compensation reduced by the veterans' economy act. The last measure would not restore reduced compensation to a single man with an income of $1,800 or over.

The sessions began yesterday after internal differences had been patched. The first break in the harmony of the veterans occurred in a clash between the so-called right and left wings of the army.

Sessions at the auditorium will begin at 8 a. m. today. Those wishing to attend the sessions will be taken to the building in buses.

A scanty police guard will be present at the meeting place. Only 10 policemen will be stationed around the building, and these, according to Inspector L. I. H. Edwards, assistant superintendent of police, will serve to direct traffic.

Fifty traffic bureau policemen will be held in reserve, but no trouble is expected by police officials. An emergency battalion of marines are stationed at Quantico, Va., and can be brought to Washington within two hours' notice.

The marine battalion is completely equipped for expeditionary work and has been in active training at Quantico since March 1. Their equipment includes submachine guns and tear gas bombs.

Stephen T. Early, secretary to the President, stated yesterday, when asked about the arrangements for the veterans' convention, that their

Cook County Acts To Seize Property

Chicago, May 15 (A.P.).—Cook County took action today to seize 69 Chicago hotels, theaters, office buildings and club properties and operate them to obtain payment of delinquent taxes. The total tax delinquency against the properties is $3,023,314. Attorneys for the county treasurer filed petitions for county receivership under the Skarda act recently passed by the Legislature.

After settlement of the tax bills, the properties would revert automatically to the owners.

Among the properties named in petitions were the Embassy Hotel, the South Shore Country Club, Sherman Hotel Annex, Eastgate Hotel and buildings of the Illinois Steel Co.

300 Armed Cuba Rebels Ready to Attack Town

Havana, May 15 (A.P.).—Telephoned advices from Sancti Spiritus, in the central province of Santa Clara, said tonight 300 armed rebels were gathered 7 miles from that city.

NEW TAX VITAL FOR BOND ISSUE, CONGRESS TOLD

President Rejects Plans for Financing With Greenbacks.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Rejecting the suggestion that the new public work program be financed by Government greenbacks, President Roosevelt told congressional leaders bluntly yesterday that new taxes must be provided for the amortization of all new bond issues.

In transmitting his tax recommendations to Congress the President will avoid submitting a detailed schedule of new levies. Instead, he will outline several optional sources of possible revenue and leave the frame of the measure to the House and Senate.

Although there is growing opposition to the idea of a Federal sales tax of 1¼ per cent, no practical alternative to this program yet has been put forward, according to those who participated in the White House revenue conference yesterday.

Message Tomorrow.

The President's recommendations are expected to go to Congress tomorrow. The message also will cover the public works and industrial coordination.

Among those who conferred with the President yesterday were Senators Robinson, Reed and Harrison, Speaker Rainey, and Representatives Byrns and Doughton.

Director of the Budget Douglas told the conference that $220,000,000 annually in new revenues would be necessary to finance the emergency program on a sound basis. He repeated that the broadly applied manufacturers' sales tax offered the only solution to the approaching crisis in Federal finances.

Democratic leaders explained after the conference that the House Ways and Means Committee has been studying revenue proposals for ten days. A majority of the committee favors the sales tax, but there is room for grave doubt whether, even with the committee's favorable report, the House would enact a general sales tax without the vigorous leadership of the White House.

Separate Bill Probable.

Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, told newspapermen as he left the White House that to avoid ensnaring the public works and industrial mobilization sections of the recovery program in the gathering revenue storm, the tax measure might be handled separately.

With this procedure, the actual launching of public works under the new bill would be contingent upon the raising of new revenues to finance them. But meanwhile the industrial coordination authority would be at work.

Advocates of the general sales tax still are hopeful they may prevail upon the President to take the lead in that direction. They point to the almost hopeless divergence of congressional opinion on taxation, as revealed in the last two sessions. In two efforts, since 1931, Congress failed to provide any substantial amount of new revenues.

If the matter is again tossed into the legislative arena without a

3 of Family Go to Cells In Chicago Bank Case

Chicago, May 15 (A.P.).—John Bain, head of a chain of 13 Chicago neighborhood banks that closed in 1930 with $13,000,000 in deposits, was sentenced today to serve from one to three years in the State penitentiary on a charge of receiving deposits in an insolvent bank.

His son, John H. Bain, and a son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher, both officers in the banking chain, got identical sentences.

Air Chief Pleased With Macon Flight

Akron, Ohio, May 15 (A.P.).—The U. S. S. Macon, the world's largest airship, made a rain-shortened test flight today and earned the verdict from Rear Admiral E. J. King: "She looks good to me."

Admiral King is the Navy's new chief of aeronautics, succeeding Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, who lost his life when the Akron, sister ship of the Macon, fell to her destruction in the Atlantic April 4.

The Macon was aloft almost eight hours today in what had been planned as a twelve-hour flight. At noon, however, threatening rain clouds caused Capt. Alger H. Dresel, skipper of the ship, to decide to end the cruise. The Macon docked at 1:05 p. m. The ship cruised over northern Ohio and paid a visit to Lorain, Admiral King's home town.

LOOPHOLE TO MEANS SEEN IN RADIO TALK

His Counsel Seeks to Prove Jury Heard Will Rogers' Remarks on Case.

Attorneys defending Gaston B. Means and Norman T. Whitaker last night were trying to learn whether the jury which is hearing their clients' trial for conspiracy in District Supreme Court listened to Will Rogers' radio comments Sunday night.

The cowboy comedian made a brief reference to Means as "a Baron Munchausen," and the defense will make a motion for a mistrial should it find the statement has reached the jury's ears.

In any event the case will be in the hands of the veniremen by noon today. The prosecutor, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, yesterday made his final argument, as did Means' attorney, J. William Tomlinson.

Whitaker's lawyer, Joseph C. Turco, will be heard this morning, and following Mr. Rover's rebuttal and Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue's instructions the case will go to the jury.

It could not be learned last night whether the jurors, quartered in the Continental Hotel, were permitted to listen to radios. Of course, the United States marshals in charge of the body would censor out any news broadcasts in which reference to the case might be made, but it is thought possible that Rogers' comment, coming on an entertainment program might have slipped past the marshal's censorship.

Mr. Rover staked the Government's argument to the five men and seven women of the jury on whether they would believe the more than a score of prosecution witnesses or Means' fantastic tale of the Lindbergh kidnaping.

He termed Means a "modern Munchausen" and with the allusion, "from Ananias down to Gaston Means," declared: "Can you believe, can anybody believe, can even Gaston Means him-

WORLD POLICY WILL BE GIVEN BY ROOSEVELT

Foreign Stand Today Is Expected to Be Strong Move for Peace.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt today will make an important new declaration of American foreign policy.

The pronouncement is expected to assert this country's readiness to consult other nations when aggressive warfare is threatened, and like the Monroe doctrine for South America, it is believed to comprehend a Roosevelt doctrine for European relations.

With the Geneva disarmament conference facing a crisis and Chancellor Hitler ready to address the German Reichstag on Wednesday on the subject of arms, Mr. Roosevelt devoted himself almost entirely yesterday to this paramount issue.

Confers With Advisers.

Late in the day he held a lengthy conference with Secretary Hull, Undersecretary Phillips, Assistant Secretary Moley and William C. Bullitt, of the State Department.

Utmost importance is attached to the impending Roosevelt declaration in the Capital. The greatest secrecy also surrounds it. Very apparently it is timed to deal with a crisis that is becoming more and more portentous in the tense European situation.

The President is understood to be ready to outline to the troubled world the part America expects to play in earnest efforts to preserve peace.

Influence Toward Peace.

Just how far he will go is problematical. He is believed to hold no opposition to entering into consultation with other nations. His policy, however, is not expected to include the United States in any votes or binding agreements on consultation.

It is a policy expected to be directed at throwing the full weight of American influence toward peace in a hitherto unsurpassed effort at mobilizing world opinion.

Throughout the day the State Department hummed with activity and it was almost sundown when Secretary Hull led his colleagues across the street to the White House.

German Arming Hit.

The United States already has made clear its opposition to German rearmament, working instead for a reduction in the arms of her conquerors and other nations as provided in the Versailles Treaty.

On the point of making a public declaration at this time, several factors came in for consideration. Hitler tomorrow makes his speech to the Reichstag setting forth Germany's arms position and the conference meets again at Geneva on Thursday following the recess forced by the German attitude.

A Japanese delegation reaches San Francisco tomorrow, bringing to the fore Far Eastern problems, including the continued and intensified advance of Japanese troops upon the ancient Chinese city of Peiping.

In this connection, the State Department announced yesterday it had been advised by the American Minister to China, Nelson T. Johnson, that

Wyoming's Repealists Take Large Lead at Conventions

334 Wet Delegates Elected Against 40 Drys, With More Than Half of Ballots in; New Jersey Votes on Question Today.

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 15 (A.P.).—Forces supporting the proposal for repeal of the eighteenth amendment took a substantial lead in returns from Wyoming's precinct conventions tonight.

With more than half of the State's 667 precinct conventions reported, 334 delegates pledged to vote for repeal had been elected compared to 40 for retention of the eighteenth amendment.

The popular vote available in 91 precincts was nearly 5 to 1 for repeal. The total was 6,290 wet and 1,341 dry.

Sheridan County, the first to report complete unofficial precinct counts, elected 72 delegates for repeal and none against it.

Wyoming is the fourth State to vote on repeal. Michigan, Wisconsin and Rhode Island previously ratified the resolution and New Jersey will vote on the issue tomorrow.

The Wyoming county conventions will elect delegates to the State repeal convention to be held at Caspar May 25.

Throughout the State the vote was considered light. Counties had not set up machinery for gathering returns in most instances. It was doubtful if the total wet or dry strength manifest in the precinct conventions would be determined before the county conventions meet.

Milk Protest Meeting Called For Tomorrow; Citizens Praise Post

4 Associations Join in Indorsement of Inquiry.

Request Cooperation of Members in Price Investigation.

Members of four Washington citizens association last night voted unstinted praise of The Washington Post for its action in bringing before the public the facts concerning milk prices in Washington.

The four associations, Park View, Lincoln Park, West End and Forest Hill, voiced their whole-hearted approval of the Senate investigation of the price of dairy products in the District, and expressed appreciation to The Post for the part it has taken in the campaign.

President F. V. Hale, of the Park View Association, called a special meeting of his executive committee last night to consider the matter, and a resolution, drawn by the secretary, John S. Cole, met with the unanimous approval of the committee.

Assail Milk Prices.

"We are still of the opinion that milk prices in Washington are too high," Mr. Hale said, "and we are glad to extend our appreciation to The Post for its public-spirited action in putting these facts before its readers."

The West End Association, in its resolution, indorsed The Post's action and asked the cooperation of "the entire press of this city in this matter, which is of vital concern to all the people of the District of Columbia." The group went on record as being entirely in accord with the Senate investigation, and asked that every member of the association cooperate with the Senate committee in the probe.

The Lincoln Park Association adopted a resolution commending The Post for its milk price campaign, and asked that letters be sent to Senator King, chairman of the Senate District Committee and to Mrs. Mary Norton, who heads that committee in the House, asking them to do everything in their power to aid the investigation.

Milk Lobby Charged.

Howard B. Smith, of the Lincoln Park body, charged that the corporation holding the majority of Washington's milk trade has enlisted the aid of lobbyists in an effort to increase health regulations over local dairies. This, he says, has checked the freedom of smaller dealers and has given the larger corporation a tremendous volume of business with which to meet these regulations.

With reference to cause of high milk prices here, several members of the Federation of Citizens' Associations said that loss and breakage of bottles was in a large way responsible; this theory was exploded in a few words by Joseph H. Carroll, who said he seriously doubted whether the ratio of broken bottles per capita in the District was greater than that of any other city.

John P. Kern, president of the association, said there was no doubt that the corporation control of milk in the District was responsible for prevailing prices and urged the citizens of Lincoln Park to fight for a

Bank Holdup Ended By Rifle of Cashier

Mauston, Wis., May 15 (A.P.).—A fighting cashier at the Mauston State Bank today shot one robber, injuring him seriously, and captured another.

Russell Hall, the cashier, used a rifle. The robbers carried revolvers, but did not return Hall's fire. The robbers, on sight of the rifle, fled without obtaining any money. One was shot in the stomach as he and his companion ran from the bank. When officers arrived, the wounded man was lying on the sidewalk, while Hall had his rifle trained on the other, backed against the front of a grocery.

TREASURY ASSISTS FOUR-BANK MERGER

Representative of Comptroller of Currency to Help Organization.

Assistance of the Treasury Department in organization of the proposed new national bank to which plan four Washington banks are definitely committed was announced yesterday by Edwin C. Graham, chosen president of the prospective institution. Four other banks are expected to be included in the plan before the end of this week.

Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., District National Bank, Potomac Savings Bank and Washington Savings Bank are the first to participate in it. Among banks attempting to reach an agreement are the Northeast Savings Bank, United States Savings Bank, Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial and Seventh Street Savings Bank.

No decision, however, had been reached by any of the four banks late last night. At the Northeast Savings Bank it was said that the question would not be decided for several days.

Following a meeting of officials of the Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank, Eppa L. Norris, conservator, announced that no agreement had been reached. Col. Wade H. Cooper, president of the United States Savings Bank, indicated that no action would be taken by his institution for some time, as did John Howard, president of the Seventh Street Savings Bank.

In a statement issued yesterday, Mr. Graham said that through the courtesy of Walter J. Cummings, executive assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, a representative of the Comptroller of the Currency will be loaned to the new bank to assist

Wealthy Crowd Clamors To Hear Mitchell Trial

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—To a musty old courtroom, where a corps of high-priced lawyers are defending Charles E. Mitchell on a charge of defrauding the Government of $858,429 in income taxes, men in morning coats and women fashionably dressed clamored for admittance today.

There were no seats for them in the dingy little room, but they would have found little to interest them. For four of the jurors who were sworn in Thursday were excused at the opening of the court, and, after four more to take their places and two alternates were selected, the session was adjourned until tomorrow.

Hitler Is Preparing Speech in Solitude

Berlin, May 15 (A.P.).—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, who is faced with the gravest decision concerning foreign affairs since he came to power January 30, is expected by his friends and followers to go into seclusion tomorrow to formulate his speech for Wednesday's special session of the Reichstag.

According to a spokesman who knows him intimately, the chancellor will conceive his speech in solitude, and nobody—not even his cabinet members—will know before he begins to speak at 3 p. m. Wednesday in what words he has decided to clothe Germany's arms program and demands.

Since he issued a call to the Reichstag last week the chancellor has spent his time conferring with Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath, Count Rudolf Nadolny, Germany's representative at the disarmament conference, and with other trusted lieutenants who have met him at Munich.

Government Employes to Mass at Central High School.

Legislative Pressure Temporarily Delays Senate Probe.

By DANIEL B. MAHER.

A mass protest against prevailing prices for milk and other dairy products will be heard tomorrow night in the Central High School Auditorium, where James G. Yaden, president of the Federation of Citizens Associations, will present the demands of Washington milk consumers.

The mass meeting has been called by the District Department of the American Federation of Government Employes, which has thrown its support behind the movement for an investigation of milk prices in the local market. The aid of this organization lends a tremendous impetus to the ever-growing clamor for an inquiry into the price field of dairy products.

The launching of a formal Senate inquiry by which Senator William H. King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, expects to learn whether a milk trust is pegging prices, is expected to be delayed a few days.

Opportunity for Service.

The impeachment proceedings against Federal Judge Louderback and important administration legislation are expected to delay Senate action on Senator King's resolution asking for authorization to conduct the probe.

"I will try to get the resolution through as soon as possible," Senator King said last night. The resolution has received unanimous approval from the Senate District Committee.

Mr. Yaden, a prominent civic leader and an active member of the American Federation of Government Employes, sees in the milk situation an opportunity for service to the community by urging that active steps be taken to bring an investigation to learn whether milk prices are being maintained through unfair means.

The disclosures made by The Post in a series of articles discussing the

Support to Berlin By U. S. Reported

London (Tuesday), May 16 (U.P.).—President Roosevelt has promised moral support to Germany in case of aggression, the diplomatic expert on the London Daily Telegraph writes in today's issue of that newspaper.

The article alleges that the President offered support similar to that he is said to have offered to France when Edouard Herriot was in Washington. It says Mr. Roosevelt made this offer in recent conversations with Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German delegate to the present economic talks in Washington, and Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador to the United States.

The writer adds that if Mr. Roosevelt would now reveal a plan for America's participation in a consultative pact, he might just tip the scales in favor of conciliation in the European situation.

Puerto Rican Veterans Classed as "Americans"

San Juan, Puerto Rico, May 15 (A.P.).—Miguel Munoz, commander of the local American Legion, said today the Government at Washington had corrected "somebody's mistake" in classifying Puerto Rican veterans with those residing in foreign countries and therefore subject to 50 per cent pension cuts.

TEAR BOMBS HURLED AS FARMERS BATTLE

500 Overcome Deputies at Wisconsin Dairy Plant; Fluid Is Scarce.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 15 (A.P.).—Numerous disorders along a 200-mile front including a battle between several hundred pickets and deputies, and a growing shortage of the fluid in the cities marked the third day of Wisconsin's milk strike.

At Bonduel, a village northwest of Green Bay, a crowd estimated by police at 500 persons closed in on a milk truck guarded by a dozen deputies. As a spiked plank stopped the truck, deputies hurled tear bombs.

Farmers caught some of the bombs, tossed them back at the officers and soon all were enveloped in a cloud of gas. Officers were pulled from the truck and pummeled, the milk dumped and the escort party forced to refuge in a dairy plant under a hail of rocks.

Windows Broken by Rocks.

The farmers then started a rock bombardment which shattered many windows of the dairy and withdrew only after its operators agreed to post a sign announcing the plant was closed. Three officers were injured, one, Stanley Hoffman, suffering a broken nose.

In other sections the temper of the farmer found expression in the burning at Kaukuna by strikers of a straw effigy of Milo Reno, National Farm Holiday leader, who called off a farm strike of proposed general proportions last week and in the turning back of all market bound farm products in Fond Du Lac County.

Milk for Children Dumped.

A Racine County truck bringing milk for Milwaukee's children was stopped near this city and its load dumped to provide the first critical test of Gov. A. G. Schmedeman's plan to bring through strike lines milk for children and the ailing. Placards on such trucks were intended to insure immunity from pickets.

Dr. John P. Koehler, Milwaukee health commissioner, was besieged by dozens of women who said their babies were crying for milk. He reassured them, explaining emergency deliveries were late, but that an adequate supply for children less than 8 years old and for the sick would be available.

But in Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Sheboygan, Green Bay and other cities there was no milk for able-bodied adults. Sale of milk in stores was still prohibited by order of Gov. Schmedeman.

25 Temporary Beer Permits Are Granted

The Beverage Permits Board yesterday issued 25 temporary beer permits at its semiweekly session. Meanwhile, its clerks are checking temporary licenses preparatory to the issuance of annual permits.

It is expected that the board will be in a position to issue annual licenses by June 1 and that no more temporary permits will be approved after that time.

Navy Slashes Fighting Fleet And Its Enlisted Personnel

Third of Warships Put on Rotative Commission and Recruiting and Reenlistments Are Stopped in Move to Effect $53,000,000 Economy.

(United Press.)

In a second drastic move for economy, the Navy yesterday reduced its active warship strength by one-third and its enlisted personnel by 2,244.

Admiral William V. Pratt, retiring chief of operations, ordered one-third of all combatant ships and aircraft into "rotating reserve comission," effective July 1. Enlisted personnel will be slashed from 79,244 to 77,000.

"The time has come when we must take acount of our stock and devote as much attention to material upkeep as to operation," Pratt said in publishing the order that will remove 65 warships from active service for six months.

Economies of $53,000,000 are sought in naval expenditures. Last week Secretary Swanson announced plans to close various shore stations and place others in a "bare maintainance" status.

Into rotative reserve on July 1 will go: Five battleships, 5 heavy cruisers, 3 light cruisers, 33 destroyers, 18 submarines, 1 aircraft carrier and 2 light mine layers.

Remaining afloat in full commission will be—10 battleships, 10 heavy cruisers, 7 light cruisers, 80 destroyers, 39 submarines, 2 aircraft carriers, 1 mine layer, 2 light mine layers, 14 patrol boats, the airship Macon and 77 auxiliary vessels of various types.

"I don't think our Navy is sunk," Pratt said in answer to declarations that United States naval strength would be impaired seriously by his order. "The rotating reserve plan has more than an even chance of success."

The rotating reserve policy will remain in effect until January 1936. No estimate was made of the amount of money it eventually would save.

Pratt explained that in reducing enlisted personnel, the Navy would not discharge men outright, but would cease all recruiting and reenlistments.

TREASURY GIVES ASSISTANCE IN FOUR-BANK MERGER HERE

in working out the many official details of organization, charter and preparation of articles of association and by-laws.

"It is most fortunate," Mr. Graham stated, "that in Washington these banks can have immediate contact with and cooperation of the department which is ready to expedite the complete organization of the new bank, and thus more quickly make available to many thousands of depositors funds amounting to $10,000,000.

Mr. Graham was in conference most of yesterday with Treasury officials and reported that progress is being made in the selection of a name for the bank, the official staff, the personnel of the board of directors, as well as the advisory boards of the several branches which the new institution will have and many other very important matters concerning the organization.

"Public reaction to the formation of the bank has been most enthusiastic," he said. "It will not only strengthen the banking situation by making available many millions of dollars the day the new bank opens, but also restore public confidence and in turn be a great factor in the stimulation of business throughout the District of Columbia and vicinity."

It is planned to have a joint meeting of the directors of all participating banks at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the small ballroom of the Willard Hotel at which time Mr. Graham, the president of the new bank, will outline plans in detail.

The organizing committee, composed of Mr. Graham, John Poole and William John Eynon, of Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., and Joshua Evans, jr., and Capt. Chester Wells of District National Bank, is pushing matters forward rapidly.

A committee on subscriptions has been formed, consisting of Capt. Wells, Mr. Eynon, George W. Offutt, jr., representing Potomac Savings Bank, and Thomas E. Jarrell, Washington Savings Bank. This group is preparing an outline of the plan to be sent to stockholders and depositors of all participating institutions.

Mr. Graham stated that in addition to the four banks heretofore announced, he is encouraged by the possibility of several others joining as soon as their respective boards of directors can meet and reach a decision on their future course.

Realization of this plan will make available 50 per cent of all of the deposits of the banks concerned or approximately $10,000,000. Each bank will present to its stockholders and depositors the general plan and circulars informing them of the requirements for the respective institutions will be sent them. What will be required of stockholders or depositors of three of the banks has not yet been outlined in detail.

The District National Bank plan, however, will be carried out as announced on May 7, insofar as the stock subscription is concerned. Its plan was designed on a flexible base which permitted either the establishment of a new bank by its own depositors and stockholders or in a consolidation with others.

John B. Cochran, president, Franklin National Bank, said yesterday the hearty response this bank is receiving from its depositors and stockholders to its plan for reopening as an independent institution leaves no doubt in his mind that this bank will be reopened within a short time.

Way Paved to Give Aid To Other Closed Banks

The way was paved yesterday for legal reorganization of other than national banks in the District, now in the hands of conservators, under a bill amending the national emergency bank act passed by the House.

The measure already had passed the Senate and now goes to the White House for signature. The Treasury found that under language of the original emergency bank act only national banks in the District could enjoy reorganization benefits. The amendment was recommended accordingly.

House Banking and Currency Chairman Steagall said yesterday that while the bill was designed primarily to rectify the local situation, it would also have national application in helping closed State banks to reorganize.

Another banking measure passed yesterday by the House would lift the present restriction limiting loans by national banks to 10 per cent of capital. Designed also to facilitate the opening of closed banks, the measure would permit national banks to make larger loans, subject to the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency.

County May Probe Death at Hospital

Montgomery County authorities are considering an inquiry into the death of 8-year-old Katherine Iverson, of Takoma Park, Md., who died yesterday on the operating table at the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital at Takoma Park. The girl had been injured the day before in a fall from a swing at her home, but had not received medical treatment until yesterday.

The little girl, niece of Martin P. Iverson, Montgomery County building inspector for the Eastern Suburban District, was swinging on a rope with playmates who caused her to go high into the air. The rope broke throwing her into a tree. It was not until yesterday that it was found that she had a broken shoulder.

She died on the operating table while ether was being administered so Dr. H. T. Morse could set the fracture. It was found that her body in the region of the heart had been badly bruised and it was thought that the injury might have weakened her heart. The remains were removed to the funeral parlor of Warner E. Pumphrey at Rockville, Md.

"Attacks" Test Strength Of U. S. Air Forces

Fort Knox, Ky., May 15 (A.P.).—The first of a series of "attacks" to test the strength of Uncle Sam's aircraft and ground forces started here today as approximately 80 Army planes zoomed overhead in a rain and cloud laden sky.

Several accidents added realism to the war "games," which will be carried on daily until May 27, but no one was fatally injured.

New Jewish Group Headed by Korman

The Washington committee of the American Jewish Congress, a permanent organization, was formed from representatives of practically all the Jewish organizations in Washington at a meeting last night at Jewish Community Center. Officers elected were Col. John A. Korman, president; Zalmen Jenkin, Ben-Zoin Emanuel, Morris Garfinkel and Dr. A. Harry Ostrow, vice presidents; Morris Klass, executive secretary, and Sam Golden, treasurer.

The organization will represent Washington Jews at the American Jewish Congress to be held here next Saturday to Monday.

Abraham Goldberg, New York author and lecturer, urged the Jews of Washington to "show a united front and to organize to improve the condition now prevalent in Germany."

"We must organize and unite in order to acquaint the world with the persecutions of our brethren in Germany," he said.

Bethesda - Chevy Chase Booster Session Planned

In furtherance of the movement for the development of the Bethesda-Chevy Chase suburban area, the directors of the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce last night made arrangements for the joint meeting tomorrow of the chamber, the Business Men's Luncheon Club, the American Legion and the Rotary Club, called for the discussion of the commercial interest of that intersuburban district.

LOUDERBACK'S TRIAL STARTED BY SENATE

Federal Judge Accused by House of Naming Incapable Receivers.

(Associated Press.)

Grave and unaccustomedly silent, the Senate sat as a court of impeachment yesterday to consider charges that Federal Judge Harold Louderback, of California, should be stripped of his judicial robes.

Five charges were voted by the House in the impeachment indictment on which the jurist is standing trial. All involve selection of receivers. They were reviewed briefly by Chairman Sumners of the House Judiciary Committee yesterday in opening the case for the prosecution.

Sumners, for the House, charged the judge allowed fees "entirely out of proportion to the services rendered" in a receivership involving the Russell-Colvin Brokerage Co., of San Francisco, and that he appointed Guy H. Gilbert, of that city, whom he described as a "telegraph operator," a receiver in several cases without "evidence to indicate he had any familiarity with business transactions."

In a general answer to the House indictment, James H. Hanley, of defense counsel said the defense would prove "each and every charge against Judge Louderback will fall of its own weight."

Senate leaders planned to make all speed possible in handling the impeachment trial. Today sessions will begin at 11 a. m., with legislative matters to come up at noon, so that the impeachment proceedings will not delay the legislative program.

As a further aid to expediting a decision, senators agreed the Vice President could designate a senator as presiding officer during the trial. This done, Vice President Garner immediately named Senator Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, who soon will go to the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals as a judge. Ten other impeachment trials have been conducted in the Senate, three resulting in conviction by the necessary two-thirds vote.

Germany Protests Insults at Vienna

Berlin, May 15 (A.P.).—The German Minister at Vienna has been instructed "to protest most sharply" to the Austrian government against incidents during the week-end visit there by Hans Kerri, Prussian Minister of Justice, and Bavarian Minister of Justice Frank.

The German minister was ordered to protest particularly against the reception accorded the Nazi officials at Aspern Airport near Vienna.

(The Austrian government sent a police official to the field with a message to the Nazis reading: "Your visit in Austria is not very desirable." Austrian Nazis, opponents of the government, cheered the visitors and Hitler.)

reduction of milk prices in the interest of the entire city, particularly expressing the necessity for an abundance of milk at a low cost for school childen.

Forest Hills Group Protests.

At an executive meeting of the Forest Hills Citizens Association at the home of Joseph Sanders, 3612 Tilden street northwest, a resolution commending The Washington Post for "calling attention to the much higher prices paid by Washington consumers for milk than is paid in other cities," was adopted and sent to the Federation of Citizens Associations for "proper action."

In commending The Post, the association urged authorities to launch a thorough investigation into local milk prices.

A protest against tax assessment valuations was also voiced at the meeting. It was urged that individual taxpayers throughout the community lodge complaints with city tax officials.

Park View Resolution.

The text of the Park View resolution follows:

"Whereas, a series of articles appearing in The Washington Post discloses that the consumers of milk and other dairy products in the District of Columbia are paying higher prices for such product than are paid in other cities, and since said articles have encouraged a movement to have conditions in the dairy industry investigated, and,

"Whereas the District of Columbia Committee of the Senate has unanimously approved of such an investigation,

"Therefore, be is resolved by the executive committee of the Park View Citizens Association, acting for the association, that we express our appreciation of the activities of the District Committee of the Senate in unanimously adopting a resolution calling for such an investigation, and that we extend to The Washington Post our thanks for the publication of the series of articles that undoubtedly had a great influence in arousing public sentiment, and commend the public spirited action of that paper, and be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the chairman of the District Committees of the Senate and House of Representatives and to The Washington Post."

The following signatures were attached to the resolution: Frank V. Hale, B. J. Kroger, John S. Cole, H. H. Moore, Mrs. R. H. Prescott, Mrs. George Schreyer, Miss Edith Scrivener, Miss Edith Shannon, W. J. Kanof, W. I. Kenner, W. B. Robinson, M. Rubin, George H. Russell, W. A. Sommers, R. I. Talbert and Fred I. Walker.

West End Resolution.

The resolution of the West End Association says:

"Be it resolved by the West End Citizens Association * * * that we hereby indorse the campaign of The Washington Post for an investigation of the price of milk in the District of Columbia and ask the cooperation of the entire press of this city in said campaign for the reason that this matter is of vital concern to all the people of the District of Columbia.

"Resolved further that this association heartily indorses the action of Senator William H. King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, in initiating an investigation into the price of milk in the District of Columbia and we request all the members of this association to cooperate with said committee in ascertaining the facts for this investigation."

CONWAY COE NAMED AS PATENT OFFICIAL

Senate Gets Nomination of Wyoming Man for Land Bureau.

Conway P. Coe, local patent attorney, yesterday was chosen patent commissioner as President Roosevelt also sent to the Senate the nomination of Fred W. Johnson, of Wyoming, as commissioner of the General Land Office.

Mr. Coe, who lives at 115 Oxford street, Chevy Chase, Md., was educated in the public schools, inclusive of Central High School. He attended the George Washington University Law School and Randolph-Macon College. For four years he served as examiner in the Patent Office, but has practiced patent law here for the last ten years. He is 37 years old.

Mr. Johnson is also a lawyer in his home town, Rock Springs, Wyo. He has never held public office before, but managed the Smith campaign in 1928 in several Western States, and was an active worker for President Roosevelt both before and after the convention. With these two nominations, the President also submitted the name of Al W. Hosinski to be U. S. marshal of the Northern District of Indiana.

The Senate yesterday confirmed the President's choice of Eugene R. Black to head the Federal Reserve Board in place of Eugene Meyer, who resigned last week. There was no debate on the confirmation of Mr. Black, who is now governor of the Atlantic Federal Reserve Bank, but Republican objections were registered to a proposal that the President be notified immediately of the confirmation.

The Senate also confirmed Dave Hennen Morris, of New York, as Ambassador to Belgium, and Robert Hayes Gore, Florida publisher, as Governor of Puerto Rico.

Action on the nomination of Dean G. Acheson, of Maryland, to be Undersecretary of the Treasurer, was postponed because of the absence of Senator Cousens (Republican), Michigan, who plans a vigorous opposition speech.

Two Seek to Pay Lincoln Estate Fee

Springfield, Ill., May 15 (A.P.).—An argument arose today as to who should have privilege of paying $5.45 on the court costs of administering the estate of Abraham Lincoln.

Hubert L. William, Detroit, recently sent a check for the deficiency to Probate Clerk Lewis E. Bird, who had discovered the estate had never been finally settled.

Bird today received another check for $5.45, made out to Williams, signed by Emma A. H. Blake, mailed from Los Angeles and drawn on a Philadelphia bank.

Man Goes to Jail To Save Dog's Life

Pittsburgh, May 15 (A.P.).—Frank Sechan went to jail today rather than kill his mongrel dog, "Sandy."

He was sentenced to a six months' term after "Sandy" bit a little boy. Judge S. L. Reed told him the sentence would be revoked if he paid the child's $50 hospital bill and executed "Sandy." The bill has not been paid and "Sandy" is still alive.

So Sechan was called into court today and ordered to begin serving the sentence. His attorney plans to seek his freedom through a writ of habeas corpus or an appeal to superior court.

Arrests Are Ordered Of Girl Hitch-Hikers

Okmulgee, Okla., May 15 (A.P.).—Girl hitch-hikers and those who give them lifts are to be arrested on sight in Okmulgee County. Officials said the drastic action was an effort to break up an "epidemic" of young girls running away from home.

Ape Elusive

Drunk Monkey Avoids Net in Attempted Capture From Airplane.

London, May 15 (A.P.).—A tippling moukey on the Howlands Castle estate of the Earl of Bessborough, governor general of Canada, retained his freedom today despite an attempt to capture him by airplanes.

A former pilot of the Royal Air Force went aloft in the hope he would be able to find the monkey, which has been doing considerable damage on the estate since he took to the bottle recently, and drop a net on him.

The pilot saw the animal and swooped down, but the monkey disappeared before the net could be dropped.

The fugitive, named Signor Tony and aged 4½ years, has made a nuisance of himself wrecking vines and destroying bird nests.

CANNON MUST STAND TRIAL, COURT HOLDS

Corrupt Practices Indictment Upheld; Appeal Planned to Supreme Tribunal.

(Associated Press.)

A reminder of the heated 1928 political campaign was given Bishop James Cannon, jr., yesterday through an appellate court's ruling that he must stand trial on charges of violating the corrupt practices act.

Through his attorneys, the churchman immediately gave notice that he planned to appeal at once to the United States Supreme Court. In it he will attempt to have the highest court overturn the ruling yesterday of the District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals that the indictments against him and Miss Ada Burroughs, of Richmond, Va., were valid. His lawyers will also challenge the constitutionality of the corrupt practices act.

Bishop Cannon waged an energetic fight against the election of Alfred E. Smith. The court phases developed from campaign contributions which he received from E. C. Jameson. Jameson, wealthy New Yorker, gave Bishop Cannon's organization $65,300 to use against Smith. Miss Burroughs was the churchman's secretary during the campaign and treasurer of the Virginia anti-Smith Democratic organization.

The Bishop was said to have violated the Federal corrupt practices act by failing to report the receipt and expenditure of the major portion of the money to the Clerk of House.

He replied that he had complied with the law, but asserted that he felt the statute itself was a violation of the Constitution. Exchanges between Bishop Cannon and enemies within and without Congress kept the matter alive for three years before a grand jury began an investigation.

The indictments against Bishop Cannon and Miss Burroughs were returned October 16, 1931, but on February 12, 1932, the District of Columbia Supreme Court quashed the indictments on the ground that they were invalid because of technicalities.

The Government appealed from this ruling and on April 10 of this year the Supreme Court said the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, which handed down the decision yesterday, had jurisdiction to hear the appeal.

Solicitor General Biggs said after the decision that he was certain it would be impossible for the Supreme Court to pass on Bishop Cannon's contemplated appeal until next fall.

The Court of Appeals' decision was handed down by Chief Justice Martin, with Justices Hitz and Groner concurring. Justice Van Orsdel dissented.

Ohio Valley Flood Spreading; 15 Die

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 15 (A.P.).—Flood waters of the Ohio River and its tributaries, swollen by abnormal rains, spread over lowlands in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana tonight with their toll of dead standing at fifteen.

Eleven persons lost their lives in central Indiana. Streams in that section were receding, but their overflow waters were passing into the Wabash and lower White Rivers, and the "pocket district" formed by these two rivers and the Ohio made ready for another flood.

Four have perished in Ohio. At Cincinnati, the Ohio dropped from a crest of 54.1 feet to 53.8 feet but was still almost 2 feet above flood level. Any rise, observers said, is dependent upon whether further rain falls.

THOUSANDS OF JOBS SAVED BY SENATORS

Federal employes at discretion, and provision for retirement of 30-year Federal employes involuntarily separated from the service without cause, was left unaltered.

Commenting on the 30-year retirement feature, Senator Byrnes said yesterday the provision as now worded is innocuous and will result in no retirements. Secretary F. Claude Babcock, of the Civil Service Commission, placed this same interpretation on the language some time ago. It is believed the only way the provision would operate would be under an Executive order setting aside the present seniority rating system.

Extent of Nearby Effect.

Other features of the independent offices bill, left untouched by Senator Glass' subcommittee, include authorization for the President to cancel or modify transportation contracts and a provision for furlough of military officers on half pay.

Secretary Babcock, of the Civil Service Commission, yesterday estimated 23 States, in addition to the 4 now over quota, will have workers in excess of their apportionment if the House clause is not eliminated.

The number of excess workers from the District, Maryland, Virginia, Iowa and Vermont is about 13,934. If they were removed from the service, the rank of the apportioned service would be so curtailed that quotas would have to be cut all along the line, he indicated.

MILLIONAIRE SEIZED AS DRUG RING AGENT

Prisoner on Coast Protests He Is Friend of Stimson and Pittman.

San Francisco, May 15 (U.P.).—Judah I. Ezra, 40, scion of a wealthy Shanghai family and self-styled personal friend of former Secretary of State Stimson and Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, was arrested by narcotic agents here today and charged with being the Pacific Coast representative of an international drug ring.

Ezra and Leong Chung, a Chinese, were taken into custody in front of the public library after agents, acting on a tip from Mrs. Amelia Cuneo, an Italian-American, laid in wait for them. Three ounces of morphine were found in their possession, agents said. They said the drug was part of a consignment smuggled into New York in a cargo of baled rags.

Ezra protested his arrest, agents said, declaring he was an intimate friend of Stimson, Pittman and others. He was quoted as telling the agents they would "get into plenty of trouble" if they persisted in arresting him.

Authorities said Ezra and his Russian wife, former wife of a German army officer, came to the United States from Shanghai a year ago. They said Ezra was one of three sons, each of whom was bequeathed $3,000,000 when their father died several years ago.

A code book was found in Ezra's possession. Federal officials said it was used as a means of communication between members of the alleged ring.

Officers were put on Ezra's trail when they apprehended Mrs. Cuneo on possession charges. They said she promised to reveal the source and the trap for Ezra and the Chinese resulted. Mrs. Cuneo was not held.

Britain's Payment In Dollars Studied

(United Press.)

The possibility of receiving Great Britain's June 15 war debt interest installment in depreciated paper dollars instead of in gold was studied last night by Government officials.

Government leaders refused to comment upon the possibility, but it was pointed out in financial circles that the United States Government at the present time was receiving payment on various debts due it in depreciated dollars. These dollars are worth approximately 20 per cent less in the world markets than they were before the United States abandoned the gold standard.

Because the United States Government was receiving payment of other debts with the present paper dollars, it was believed possible that if Great Britain offered payment in paper dollars instead of gold dollars that they would be received.

Library of Congress Wins Retention of Thatcher Gift

The executors of the estate of John Boyd Thatcher yesterday lost in the District Court of Appeals an attempt to have set aside a $500,000 gift of books to the Library of Congress.

The decision rested on the provisions made by the library for receiving and cataloguing the books, and the Court of Appeals held the requirements of the will had been fully met.

The books had been placed in the library by Thatcher's wife prior to her death in New York in 1927. The will directed that the books be kept in a certain manner, with a complete catalogue of them, and the trustees of the estate contested the gift on the ground that the bequest had not been complied with.

The collection, which will now become a permanent part of the library's books, includes a number of letters and manuscripts written by "the kings and queens or other rulers of England, Germany, Spain and Italy, including the Popes of Rome and Napoleonic collection, as well as a number of books and pamphlets relating to the French Revoltuion."

REICH MAY ANSWER BEFORE LEAGUE BAR

Britain Plans Drastic Step if Rearming Threats Result in Action.

London, May 15 (U.P.).—Great Britain is ready to call Germany before the bar of the League of Nations for trial in the event she tries to carry out threats of rearming, it was indicated tonight.

Leading members of Parliament close to the government of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald say the administration is prepared to go that far to keep Berlin within the terms of the Treaty of Versailles.

A special session of the cabinet will be summoned immediately on receipt of the official report of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's speech to the Reichstag on Wednesday, outlining his arms program. The cabinet will decide what course to instruct Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, to take at Geneva when the arms parley reconvenes Thursday.

Sir John will hurry to Geneva to confer with the American, French and Italian delegates to the parley, in an effort to assure a common front against the German demands.

If Hitler's address is conciliatory in tone, Sir John is ready to make a "gigantic effort" to save the disarmament conference, his friends said.

However, if the Nazi chancellor indicates a determination to rearm, it was understood reliably that the former allies, either singly or jointly, plan to bring the case before the council of the League without waiting for an actual violation of the Versailles treaty.

The government here does not regard Germany's announcement of her intention to rearm as a violation in itself of the treaty. But the British would consider "sanctions," or penalties, by the allies justified in case of actual rearmament by Berlin beyond the treaty limits.

DAVIS TRIES TO BAR BERLIN'S REARMING

Envy Asks France to Join U. S. and Britain in Opposing Threat.

Paris, May 15 (U.P.).—President Roosevelt's leadership in international affairs was demonstrated again today when his personal envoy, Norman H. Davis, sought to mobilize France, Great Britain and the United States on a common front against Germany's threats to rearm.

Mr. Davis, fresh from success in London, where he gained support for the Roosevelt economic truce plan, conferred with Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour on the German threat. Tomorrow he will see Premier Edouard Daladier.

To both, it was understood, he is presenting an argument for a calm but firm rejection of Berlin's rearming program. Mr. Davis and the British already have reached an agreement on a joint position on this delicate problem at Geneva, and Mr. Davis now is attempting to induce France to moderate her reply to the Germans.

He has told them, speaking for the President, that a blunt answer might cause an open breach with Germany involving the definite collapse of the preliminary arms conference which reconvenes at Geneva on Thursday after a brief recess to "settle the atmosphere."

Mr. Davis expects Italy to give moral support to the rejection of the German rearming plan. He intimated that conversations with Dino Grandi, Italian envoy in London, had revealed Italy has lost sympathy with Germany's spirit.

Payment to Widow Of Walsh Opposed

(Associated Press.)

Representative Young (Democrat), of Ohio, in a statement yesterday said he would "oppose vigorously payment of $9,000 to the widow of Senator Thomas J. Walsh," of Montana.

It has been customary for years for Congress to appropriate one year's salary to the widow or nearest relative of a member of Congress who dies while in office. The appropriation for Mrs. Walsh is in the third deficiency bill, now in conference.

"Senator Walsh rendered services of inestimable value to his country," Mr. Young said. "It might be fitting and proper to make an appropriation for his daughter, but for the widow of five days—absolutely no."

LONDON CONFERENCE DELEGATES CHOSEN

Roosevelt Is Said to Have Selected Cox, Baker and Baruch.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt was reported in high quarters yesterday to have selected five outstanding members of the Democratic party as leaders of the American delegation to the all-important world economic conference opening in London on June 12.

The Chief Executive, it was said reliably, has chosen James M. Cox, Newton D. Baker and Bernard M. Baruch to accompany Secretary Hull and Chairman Pittman, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, to the conference.

The delegation of five members was said to be tentative, and it was not disclosed whether the President had obtained promises to serve from the three nonofficial members.

All three of these men have been prominent in national and party affairs for many years and frequently have been mentioned for important posts in the Roosevelt administration.

Cox was Democratic nominee for President in 1920; Baker, war-time Secretary of War, was pushed by many as likely Presidential choice last year, and Baruch, who held the strategic post as chairman of the War Industries Board during the war, has maintained a close relationship with all Presidents since that time.

President Roosevelt had been reported as seeking at least one Republican to send to the conference, but is understood to have decided to draw his representatives from his own party with the tacit agreement of some leading Republicans.

These Republicans took the view that the nature of the problems to be considered at the London conference, involving some long standing issues between the parties, might be handled better by united Democratic delegations.

$37,830 Is Profit Of Inaugural Ball

The net income from the Roosevelt-Garner Inaugural ball was $37,830.13, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. John Allan Dougherty, chairman.

In all probability the money will be turned over to the Community Chest. Placement of the money is determined by the finance board. Mrs. Dougherty, who expressed a desire that part of the money be turned over to the Community Chest also said she hoped the widows' and orphans' funds of the Police and Fire Departments will receive $5,000 each. "They have always had this sum or more in each of the three Inaugural balls of which I have been chairman," she said.

Alexandrians Protest New Routing of Trucks

The new route defined by the Alexandria city council for freight motor carriers passing through the city, put into operation on Sunday, has caused numerous complaints from residents in the neighborhood of Duke and Henry streets, where a turn is made. The complaint is that the many turns occasioned by the new routing causes many shifting of gears and subsequent noise.

ROOSEVELT EXPECTED TO TAKE WORLD POLICY STAND TODAY

he had advised the withdrawal of American women and children from Tungchow, 13 miles east of Peiping.

Moves also were made to warn American citizens in the area which would be affected if the Japanese should advance on Tungchow and to supply Japanese authorities with a list of American citizens and American-owned property in that locality, including missionary compounds.

The Japanese delegation will participate in the conversations being held with representatives of leading nations to prepare the way for the world monetary and economic conference at London, beginning June 12. To Viscount Kikujuro Ishii, former foreign minister and head of the delegation, Secretary Hull sent a message of greetings yesterday as the Japanese ship neared American soil.

"We are happy to welcome you to the United States and we are looking forward with pleasure to your visit to Washington," it said.

A similar message was sent to Dr. Joaquim Francisco de Assis Brasil, who will arrive today on the Berengaria to represent Brazil in the economic conversations.

With diplomatic representatives of Peru, Spain, Cuba and Poland, the Secretary yesterday pursued these preliminary conversations. At the same time he expressed anew his hopes that the economic conference will show definite results in stabilization of currencies and trade barrier reduction.

He said he hoped the statesmen of the various countries were beginning to realize that United action alone will prevail and referred to the various bilateral commercial agreements being negotiated as representing a "survival of the fittest" move and regrettable so far as they involve excesses and discriminations.

Along this line, it was reported from Paris that the United States Embassy there would protest a recent French measure which was described as discriminating against the United States and favoring Italy and Belgium. State Department officials did not comment on this nor on the German and disarmament situations, although it was plain they felt that chances of success at London will be greatly decreased by an open rupture on arms with resultant antagonastic national feeling.

When Tomlinson followed he termed Mr. Rover's deductions "illogical" and "hallucinations." The United States Attorney's closing argument was characterized as "to create prejudice, bias and hatred." "No actor," Tomlinson said, "even the Barrymores in their palmiest days were better than he was."

Perhaps Mr. Tomlinson took this way to pay a left-handed compliment to the splendid closing argument of Mr. Rover, who picked Means' amazing story to pieces at its every possible joint.

Means was on the stand yesterday morning for a few minutes, in which he added another amazing statement to his story.

Copy of Letter Identified.

He said that a month ago, from his cell at the District Jail, he sent a letter to the lawyers of Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, whom he and Whitaker are charged with attempting to defraud $35,000, which said that the kidnapers of the Lindbergh child were in Washington and could be arrested.

He also stated that he did not know the Max Hasbell, New Jersey beer runner whom he named as a kidnaper, had been shot to death several weeks ago. He identified a carbon copy of a letter which he had mailed Hasbell on May 3, asking him to testify in his behalf.

Whitaker did not take the stand to testify. The $35,000 which the two are supposed to have sought from Mrs. McLean was to be exchanged for $40,000 of the marked money paid to the kidnapers by Col. Lindbergh through "Jafsie."

individuals and nations, had aggravated the world wide economic crisis.

"In these difficult times, individuals guided by their own self-interest are learning that the letter of the bond is not supreme," he said. "If that be true of individuals, how much more should it be true of great nations. The large self-interest of the creditor requires him to take account of the basic obligations of relationship. If anger and prejudice be substituted for patience and understanding, the bond will not succeed—the basic obligation will be violated.

"I venture the statement that the lamentable things happening in Germany today have their seeds in unfortunate clauses of the Treaty of Versailles."

Young spoke at the annual conference of the Association of Junior Leagues of America.

Furniture Factory Strike Is Settled

Galax, Va., May 15 (A.P.).—Factory owners and strikers in interviews tonight asserted the strike in the Vaughan-Bassett and Webb furniture plants had been settled and that the men would return to work tomorrow.

B. C. Vaughan, president of one of the plants, and two strikers said 60 per cent of the strikers after a conference among themselves, returned to work and assured owners all would return tomorrow. Similar statements came from J. V. Webb, president of the other plant, and two of his men, Roscoe Sexten and Robert Rutherford.

ZIONIST LEADER

JEWISH FUNDS DRIVE WILL START TONIGHT

Zionist Leader to Tell of Great Need in Germany and Palestine.

Moved by reports of widespread suffering among the Jews of eastern Europe and aroused by the treatment of their coreligionists in Germany, Washington Jews will gather at the Jewish Community Center tonight to voice their protests.

The occasion will be the formal launching of the united Jewish campaign, which seeks $30,000 for European relief and Palestine rehabilitation. There will be no attempt to raise money at the mass meeting, but tomorrow morning several hundred volunteer workers will begin a systematic canvass of the Jewish homes of the city.

Heading the list of speakers at tonight's mass meeting will be Morris Rothenberg, president of the Zionist Organization of America, and Rabbi W. F. Rosenblum, of Temple Israel, New York. Rabbi Rosenblum was formerly associated with the Washington Hebrew Congregation.

Other speakers will include the co-chairman of the drive, Edmund I. Kaufmann and Isidore Hershfield, and the drive director, Louis E. Spiegler.

The meeting tonight will bring together for the first time the more than 200 volunteer workers who will engage in the two weeks' canvass for funds. They will be led by Judge Nathan Cayton, head of the men's division, and Mrs. John M. Safer and Mrs. Harry Lewis, leaders of the women forces.

Preparations for the drive have been going on at the headquarters at the Jewish Center for the past month. Many thousands of pieces of literature have been mailed out by the force of volunteer office workers headed by Mrs. S. A. Wiseman.

March Field Razed By 'Bombardment'

March Field, Riverside, Calif., May 15 (A.P.).—This base of the American Air Corps theoretically lay in ruins today after two bombardment groups led by Maj. Joseph T. McNarney had soared overhead and rained mythical bombs from the sky.

Maj. McNarney led his two groups of aerial dreadnaughts from Oceanside, eluded 90 pursuits ships dispatched to repulse them, and victoriously roared across the enemy post, which, in actual warfare, would lay helpless below.

The flight today was one of the most spectacular of the 1933 Air Corps maneuvers and further enabled high ranking officials of the air force to arrange Southern California's defense against overhead attacks.

definite administration program a third revenueless deadlock almost certainly would follow. Under yesterday's White House agreement, this would mean no public works, for henceforward the aggregate of new commitments on this sort of expenditure is to be controlled entirely by the sinking fund provided from new taxes.

President Roosevelt told the congressional leaders that he hoped for adjournment of the special session not later than June 10 or 12.

There appeared considerable doubt in the minds of some of the White House advisers last night whether Congress could enact any revenue bill before that time.

Whether the President will seek additional broad powers relating to war debt and tariff negotiations remained in doubt after the legislative conference.

Blind's Boon

Sightless Girl Certain She Enjoys Air Tour More Than Seeing Ones.

Kansas City, May 15 (A.P.).—Miss Laura Gregory, 32-year-old blind stenographer, of Richmond, Va., sat at the Kansas City airport today and told with excitement and pleasure of her "sight-seeing tour of the United States" by airplane.

Miss Gregory, who can type more than 100 letters a day without an error, said she conceived the idea of two weeks' vacation in the air to show the world a blind girl can travel alone by plane.

H. M. Ashe, Atlanta, Ga., en route to California to visit his sons, has been helping Laura "see things" on the journey since they met in Harrisburg, Pa., where their transport plane was held up by bad weather.

"I can tell when the plane is taking off," Miss Gregory said, "and the steward says I am the best altitude guesser he ever has had on his ship. It is a delicious sensation to glide through the air like a bird—an even greater thrill for a blind person than for one who can see everything, because one can imagine such beautiful things. Honestly, I feel as if I were sitting on top of the world, in spirit as well as literally."

WELFARE WORKERS ARE SPARED SLASH

15 Per Cent Pay Cut Skips Emergency Division Employes.

Comptroller General McCarl yesterday informed the District Commissioners that employes in the emergency relief division of the welfare department are not subject to the 15 per cent salary cut required under the Federal economy act, but the 106 employes who have been working with an 8 1-3 per cent cut for the last ten months will get no refund except for the last two pay days, when 15 per cent of their meager salaries was deducted.

The Board of Public Welfare, it seems, made the original cut when the organization was set up last August and intended to ask an opinion from the Comptroller General, but never got around to it. When the 15 per cent cut became effective, the salaries of these employes was cut accordingly, but after this cut the Commissioners asked for a ruling.

Although the relief employes, most of whom receive less than $1,000 a year, were given to understand that the 8 1-3 per cent cut was only temporary, and though the Comptroller General yesterday stated that under such circumstances they are entitled to a refund, Leroy A. Halbert, director, said that he understood that there would be no refund, save of the 15 per cent deduction. The pay scale will return to the meager base originally set up by the welfare board, but never actually made effective.

The salaries range generally from $780 to $900, with a top of $2,000 and a few at $720. Many of the employes are persons who have been assigned from the ranks of applicants for relief.

reached a cemetery, at the very end of the area and could go no farther.

More than 300 buildings were destroyed or damaged. Estimates placed the loss at more than $2,500,000, a half-million dollars greater than that caused by the fire at Ellsworth, 125 miles northeast of here, a week ago last night. Norman Moore, 25, farm hand, confessed setting the Ellsworth fire.

Only the breadth of the Androscoggin River prevented similar destruction in the twin city of Lewiston. As it was, the flames jumped the river, destroyed three buildings there and damaged three others.

Most of the burned buildings in Auburn were wooden frame tenement houses, the homes of textile and shoe workers.

The homeless, numbering 700 men, women and children, were quartered for the most part tonight in Lewiston, where the armory, city hall and other public buildings were converted into temporary camps. The county building at Auburn also was made over into a dormitory. The Maine Central Railway rushed fourteen boarding cars, enough to house 125 persons, onto a siding at Auburn and offered the Red Cross free transportation of supplies.

It was considered remarkable that no lives were lost in the fire. Scores were taken to hospitals, but no serious injuries occurred.

local milk situation was commended by Michael D. Schaefer, president of the District Department. "I wish to commend The Washington Post for the part it has played in making public the background of the milk situation," he said, "and I predict that the revelations so far should be fruitful in forming public opinion for the correction of the situation."

"The evidence so far disclosed in the effort to bring about an investigation of milk prices in Washington has demonstrated that the consumer is getting the worst of the bargain. Milk stands out as one commodity on which the price is unquestionably too high. Its place as one of the staple food commodities makes it imperative that the price be cut in keeping with the lowering of other commodity prices and the reduced income of Government employes and other workers who make their homes here."

The decision to lend its aid to the action for a milk inquiry was reached late yesterday at a meeting of the department's civic affairs committee and the announcement was made by John P. Simpson, chairman of the committee.

He also announced that the organization will press for relief from high rents, and for aid for home owners from whom are expected high interest rates, renewal fees and similar charges which add to the burden of the home owner.

The rental reductions will be urged by Senator Arthur Capper, chairman of the rent subcommittee of the Senate District Committee; Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, chairman of the same subcommittee of the House District Committee, and Leo E. George, president of the National Association of Post Office Clerks.

Columbia Students Riot On Radical's Discharge

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—Students clashed in free-for-all fights across the campus of Columbia University today as the aftermath of a strike to protest the authorities' failure to renew the contract of Donald Henderson, radical instructor in economics.

Eyes were blackened, eggs were thrown, clothes were torn and anti-Henderson students inadvertently played a hose on the police when the stream failed to reach the demonstrators, but only three arrests were made.

COL. KILGORE DEAD AT SHANGHAI POST

Leader of Fourth Marines Was War-Time Aid to F. D. Roosevelt.

Col. Fred Dwinel Kilgore, United States Marine Corps, commanding officer of the Fourth Regiment of Marines in China, died yesterday in Shanghai, following an illness of several days. Col. Kilgore was the war-time Military aid to President Roosevelt, then Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

His death marks the fifth time that the commanding officer of the Fourth Regiment of Marines in China has died while on duty in the Far East. Previous commanding officers of the unit were Col. Charles S. Hill, Col. Henry C. Davis, Col. Harry Lay and Col. Richard Hooker. All of these officers were stricken while heading the Marine Regiment. Col. Kilgore succeeded Col. Hooker, who died last Christmas Eve after a heart attack. The former officer went to China to take up his new duties, arriving there March 13.

Col. Kilgore was born in Sag Harbor, N. Y., September 3, 1882, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps October 23, 1903. During the World War he was in France from March 27 until May 7, 1918, and returned in October as adjutant of the Eleventh Regiment of the Marine Corps.

He served as aid to the then Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt and traveled with him to Brest, Paris, London, Brussels, Cologne and Coblenz, and other points in Europe.

Col. Kilgore was decorated with the Mexican Campaign Medal, the Victory Medal, the Marine Corps Expeditionary Medal and the Yangtze Medal. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Georgie Kilgore, who is now in Shanghai.

BONUS ARMY TODAY MEETS IN CAPITAL

meeting was their affair. He said that no trouble was expected.

Loud speakers magnified the voices of speakers at the sessions yesterday. The meeting began after leaders of the two factions patched their differences, "to promote harmony in camp and arrange for a convention on a satisfactory basis to our people."

This concession to harmony allowed all veterans with honorable discharges to participate in all public meetings and stipulated that all important matters be settled by a vote of the rank and file. The exodus of the 200 veterans brought to this city by Mike Thomas, came shortly after the meeting was called to order.

George A. Brady, acted as chairman of the meeting. A convention committee of five was nominated and elected. This committee was created to complete arrangements for the use of the auditorium for their sessions today and tomorrow.

Albert Wood Is Elected.

Albert Wood was elected chairman of a committee of twelve to arrange the rules, regulations and procedure at the convention.

A legislative committee which will be permanent was also elected at the meeting. This committee will serve to contact Congress and to lobby for favorable veterans' legislation. The veterans nominated eleven men for the committee and then added the five members of the convention committee to the group designated to lobby.

A second, but less open, breach in the ranks of the bonus men occurred while nominations were being made. Three leaders of the "left wing" of the army declined committee nominations, but their followers at the meeting insisted on their serving and they withdrew their objections.

The third break in the new harmony of the veteran group occurred when the indorsement of sympathy for the farmers and unemployed came up for discussion.

Impromptu statements from the floor of the convention were so heated that Brady admonished the delegates that they would be forced to "adjourn the meeting unless the veterans stop the acrimonious debate."

The harmony regime at the camp, however, did not extend to the combination of the two camps into one. Both factions maintained separate registration headquarters and kept their contingents apart.

Recruits Arrive Slowly.

The veterans intermingled peacefully when the meetings were not in session. They were forged into complete harmony by the mess call.

Their approximate number of 1,200 was only slightly augmented yesterday. Less than 200 men trickled through the registration tent at Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue and were given bus transportation to the camp. The arrivals were scattered through the day.

The encampment at Fort Hunt is hardly taxed to one-seventh of its capacity. Nearly 700 of the tents provided to accommodate the 8,000 veterans expected were vacant.

A slight change from the announced menu was made yesterday. In the wording of the announcement the term "your authority is requested to change the menu" was used. The veterans greeted the announcement with cheers.

Benefit Dinner in Arlington.

The Catholic Woman's Club of Arlington County will serve a benefit dinner from 5 to 7 p. m. today in St. Charles School Hall. Mrs. Stephen E. Childs is the general chairman of arrangements. The proceeds will be used to defray expenses of the school children's annual picnic to Bristow, Va., May 30.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

THERE is a general swing over the country on this economy-complex-in-Government. The Federal Diary soon will present some expressions to back this statement . . . And congratulations to Cartoonist Berrymen, who used to be in Government service and who seems to have caught the spirit of the swing away from the economy complex. Also congrats to some other papers which are falling into line. All hot for telling how economy was to be spread around, at first. Not so hot now. Anxious to show employes' side . . . We are asked if the next inaugural ball will be given in the "new" interdepartmental building on Commerce Square. The Renovize committee probably will be able to provide space for the ball in addition to housing the ten major departments. And Civil Service. We'll take that up before long. As one cabinet officer is quoted as saying "Civil Service? What Civil Service? To h——l with it! I'm running this business." A Civil Service worker with a 100 per cent record had just said something about Civil Service. Shades of Andrew Jackson! . . . Paraphrasing a line in a current motion picture now in Washington: "Discharged for faithful service!" . . . And it won't be long before the Federal Diary and With Outdoorsmen will be hosts to Washington's greatest salt water rodeo. Watch for date announcement just to keep the record straight . . . Miss Lulu Gardner (*), Commerce, back from week-end at home with her mother, York Springs, Pa. . . . You know, when the Government sells you home furlough, you might as well take it. Jack Durham, Commerce, is taking some furlough . . . "How about digging up some 'ten-years-ago' stuff occasionally?," suggests a correspondent. We will. And ten years hence some of the "new deal" events happening and proposed will be interesting reading.

If attendance counts, Agriculture Union, N. F. F. E., netted a gratifying return from the benefit card party and social Saturday evening. Success of the event is due largely to the efforts of the above committee. Left to right, front—Daisy Edgerton, Marie Heisley, Lottie L. Anderson, Blanche Clark. Back row—Archie C. There is, or was, in the Government service a young woman making $900 a year (less 15 per cent). She has a husband. He marches for Uncle Sam at $30 a month—minus his 15 per cent. So the wife was classified as a married woman whose husband is in "Government service." Now the two must live off the marching husband's $30 a month—less his 15 per cent. The band will now play "The Stars and Stripes Forever!"

Who hastens home at half-past four, and greets you by the front porch door, still fagged out from her matinee jaunt? Come on—two guesses! Who plans to spend your hard-earned kale, and sobs right out a poignant tale of not a single dress to wear? Oh Kay—you guessed it!

SEVERAL requests made for practice rounds at Indian Spring, where the Federal Diary's first annual golf tournament will be held May 25. The question is being referred to J. Leland Acuff, Prohibition, and his general committe, who will meet Friday evening at the clubhouse.

Today we talk about hole No. 9, par 3, of 237 yards.

ERNEST TORRENCE, FILM ACTOR, DIES

Scot, Who Rose to Heights in Several Arts, Fails to Rally From Coma.

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—One of the screen's noted character actors, Ernest Torrence, died today.

The giant Scot—known to millions over the world as the villainous mountaineer in "Tol'able David" and the scout in "The Covered Wagon"—sank into a death coma Sunday after failing to rally from an operation at the Lenox Hill Hospital.

His wife and a son, Ernest Torrence, jr., were at the bedside.

Torrence was uncommunicative about his life, even among close friends, and it was not until his death that it was learned from relatives that he was 54 years old.

Before going to Hollywood he won recognition as a concert pianist, a musical comedy favorite, a grand opera singer and a character role portrayer on Broadway.

The development of sound pictures brought to Torrence his greatest recognition—a field in which he pioneered. As he once related, it was more than 20 years ago, in Thomas A. Edison's laboratory, that the first sound film was recorded—with Torrence singing the role of the baryotone, Valentine, in "Faust."

PARALYSIS IS FATAL TO E. S. LEADBEATER

Alexandrian Was Prominent in Episcopal Church Activities.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Edward Stabler Leadbeater, son of the late Edward Stabler and Clara Chandlee Leadbeater, died yesterday at his home, 216 South Pitt street, after an illness of several months, the result of a stroke of paralysis. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. William B. Lloyd and Mrs. Laurence Stabler, and a brother, Clarence Chandlee Leadbeater, all of Alexandria.

Mr. Leadbeater was superintendent of the Sunday School of historic Christ Episcopal Church 30 years, and was also a vestryman of the church. He had been treasurer of Columbia Fire Company No. 4 for more than 25 years, and was also an active member of the local Kiwanis Club. Mr. Leadbeater was a member of the old city council and at one time chairman of the committee on streets.

He was connected all of his life with the Leadbeater Drug Store, established in 1792 by Edward Stabler, and since that time continuing in the family and in the same location, the 100 block of South Fairfax street. He succeeded his father, the late Dr. Edward Stabler Leadbeater, in the management of the store, and in the last few years his brother-in-law, William B. Lloyd, has been associated in the business.

The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow from Christ Episcopal Church, conducted by the rector, the Rev. Dr. William Jackson Morton. Burial will be in Ivy Hill cemetery.

AMERICANS ADVISED TO QUIT CHINA AREA

Native Evacuation in Panic as Japanese Press On Toward Peiping.

Peiping, May 15 (U.P.).—The United States Legation today formally advised Americans in the north China war zone to evacuate immediately, as the Japanese offensive moved resolutely southward toward Peiping.

The legation urged foreign residents at Tungchow to proceed to Peiping without further delay. Diplomatic authorities can not order Americans to evacuate, even in time of danger, but usually the legation or consular "advice" is sufficient.

The Chinese reported they still held Miyun-Hsien, 50 miles north of Peiping, but the Japanese rapidly moved up their artillery and the siege there was expected to be brief.

WYOMING'S VOTING STRONG FOR REPEAL

Newark, N. J., May 15 (A.P.).—New Jersey voters in the primary elections tomorrow apparently will ballot in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Failure of the antirepeal forces to file a sufficient number of names on petitions in 11 of the 21 counties, was regarded as forecasting the action of convention to be held probably early in June.

Gov. A. Harry Moore urged every qualified voted to express himself on the question.

At the same time the voters will choose candidates for nominations for 7 of the 21 State Senate seats. A full Assembly of 60, and the various county offices.

Arlington Settles Two $50,000 Notes

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Meeting in special session yesterday morning, the county board authorized the immediate payment of two notes totaling $50,000. The payment of this amount clears the county board of all temporary loans made necessary by shortage in the accounts of former County Treasurer E. Wade Ball. The payment was made possible by the receipt by the county last week of $350,000 in bond settlement in the case of Ball.

The board at this meeting also signed the semimonthly payroll, totaling $5,707.47.

The distribution of the $350,000 received in the Ball case is as follows: General county fund, $166,327.64; fire fund, $11,704.49; water operating fund, $72,155.11; water debt, $13,377.75; dog tax fund, $2,683.48; road debt, $14,978.17; school operating fund, $27,178.52; school debt fund, $40,905.57; Falls Church school fund, $689.29.

Bethesda's Border Sign Dispute Aired

The controverted Bethesda Chamber of Commerce highway sign at Bradley lane and Wisconsin avenue was discussed last night by the directors of the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce. Vigorous objections have been made against the location of the sign on the ground that it tended to extend the Bethesda limits into Chevy Chase. The sign recently disappeared, adding to the growing feeling. In the meanwhile, the chamber has considered the possibility of a relocation of the sign, in the hope of reaching a harmonious decision.

Forced to take some action concerning the theft of the sign, the directors decided last night that if it is not returned before the next meeting of the chamber, June 5, a reward will be offered for its recovery, and apprehension and conviction of the guilty parties.

COURT TERM OPENS IN FAIRFAX COUNTY

Seven True Bills Returned by Grand Jury; Three Men Admitted to Practice.

The May term of the Fairfax County Circuit Court opened yesterday with Judge Walter T. McCarthy presiding. The grand jury, composed of Robert R. Buckley, foreman; Albert R. Sherwood, Frank P. Gillingham, Stockton S. Holbrook, John F. Davis, James Adams and John M. Pettitt, returned the seven presentments made by Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Parr, marked true bills.

The indictments charged LeRoy Fisher, Ashby Holmes, Denbey Paran and George Cole with manufacture of liquor and possession of a still; Ike Johnson with two charges of housebreaking and one of assault; Fleming Bell with an assault with intent to kill; James Blevins and Clay Miller with possession of a still and manufacture of ardent spirits, and Jefferson D. Broadduss and Jorce Jennell with felonious housebreaking.

Ike Johnson pled guilty to charges of entering the home of William H. Richards near Clifton and the garage of Delbert M. Robinson near Fairfax and received one year on each charge. He also pled guilty to attacking Ruth Richards during his invasion of the Richards home and striking her with a club when she sought to spread the alarm and was sentenced to five years in the State penitentiary. The sentences were not to run concurrently.

Fisher, Holmes, Parran and Cole were found guilty of operating a 700-gallon still and possessing 300 gallons of liquor and were each fined $100 and costs and given six months in jail. James Blevins pleaded guilty to operating a still near Centerville and was fined $5 and costs and six months in jail. Other criminal cases and appeals from the county trial justice court were set for trial during the term, which will continue until after June 9.

A. Moncure Bloxton, David R. White and Frank D. Strader, of Arlington, were admitted to practice in the Fairfax court.

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Fly To Pacific Coast in June

First Lady, Hostess to 1,000 at White House Garden Party, Expresses Satisfaction at Public's Attitude Toward Her Wide Activities.

The next big adventure of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is to be a cross-country airplane flight to visit her son, Elliott, in Los Angeles.

But before she takes that trip she is going to get a permanent wave, and go to see her East Coast son, Franklin, jr., captain of the Groton crew.

Mrs. Roosevelt made these announcements yesterday when she entertained 1,000 guests on the White House lawn in a garden party.

The race in which Franklin, jr., will have a part takes place next Saturday, and Mrs. Roosevelt with her son, James, and his wife, Betsy, will motor to Massachusetts for the event. The cross-continent flight is planned for "the first days in June, probably the second or third."

Mrs. Roosevelt's stay on the West Coast will be brief. She said she wanted merely to see with her own eyes her son, Elliott, on his new job—which is with an air company—and to have a jolly time with him and his chum, Charley Seaver, and briefly to visit with her friend, Isabel Greenway, of Arizona, in Los Angeles.

In discussing her unrestrained activities, Mrs. Roosevelt said she was delighted that the public is content to let her dash hither and yon at will.

"I think people are swell!" she said, using the popular vernacular.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she answered all signed letters of criticism.

"I tell them I realize perfectly they have a right to their own opinion and that I am sorry if I offend them," she said. "But I do also say that if I did not do what I think the right thing to do, I would not be satisfied with myself.

"Everyone must live his own life in his own way, not according to anybody else's standards," she declared

TAXES FOR PUBLIC WORKS.

Congress is face to face with the issue of raising taxes to make feasible a gigantic bond issue for public works. Apparently the administration is determined to go forward with this program in the hope that it may create a demand for commodities and furnish work for part of the army of unemployed. The result will be an increase in the debts of the Government and the States and municipalities that borrow money from Uncle Sam to spend on improvements.

This prospective increase in the Federal debt can not be regarded without apprehension. If this program of spending is carried out the national debt will again approach the high figure it reached shortly after the war. Nearly all of the $10,000,000,000 which the American people spent for debt amortization from 1919 to 1929 will be wiped out in an effort to substitute governmental activity for private enterprise. Congress ought to consider with the utmost care the disadvantages of another great increase of the debts of taxpayers while contemplating the benefits that may result from the expenditure of so much money.

Since the Government is determined to carry out a public works program, why should it not use the taxing power to raise the necessary revenue, instead of creating another heavy burden of debt? A sales tax of 2 or 3 per cent would raise money for all the public works that the Government can afford to undertake in the present circumstances. Such a plan would avoid extravagant spending and would not put a strain upon the Government's credit. Business could then be given the assurance that as soon as conditions are improved the sales levy would be repealed. Under the bonding scheme, whatever special tax might be adopted would weigh upon business for 20 years.

There is ground for the belief that conditions are improving, and that business is finding a balance on which it can go forward. Extreme caution is needed to avoid weakening confidence again. Business will not be encouraged by a large bond issue while the budget remains out of balance. The greatest need is for more business, more industrial activity and less Government spending.

A moderate public works program to be financed from a special sales tax would not end the depression, but it would allow the Government to build up the Navy to treaty strength and to push forward other projects of a practical nature. It would avoid further increases in the debt and preserve the Government's credit on a sound basis. The capital which the administration is trying to make available for private industry would not be absorbed for governmental use. Congress might well consider this plan as an alternative to that of increasing the debt which would make extra taxation necessary to take care of interest.

A KANSAS IDEA.

The State constitution of Kansas limits the biennial session of the legislature to fifty days. In recent years this period has not been long enough to give due consideration to many measures pressing for legislative action, and at the session just closed over 2,000 bills were introduced. In order that some of the preliminary work of investigation may be done in advance of the next session the "Interim Legislative Council" has been created, a body consisting of fifteen members of the house of representatives, ten members of the senate, the speaker of the house and the president of the senate, the Lieutenant Governor.

The new council is holding its first session in Topeka this week. It has no powers of enactment, but is primarily a fact-finding organization designed to give fuller consideration to proposed bills than is possible after the legislature has convened. One of the announced reasons for this innovation is that it will be able to assemble reports upon legislation with greater freedom from the importunities of the ubiquitous lobbyist, whose clan is reported to have become so numerous in the State as greatly to embarrass many members of the legislature.

The new council is obliged to hold four sessions a year, but it is not required to carry on all its investigations as a whole. Small committees may be delegated to make special investigations, and these specific inquiries may be made in any part of the State. There will, of course, be nothing binding upon the full membership when it meets two years hence, but advocates of the plan feel that the independent findings of the council members will greatly facilitate and expedite legislative work. The council will not only report upon many important measures, but the members will be available for appearance before committee meetings to give first-hand information regarding their findings.

This experiment is one that is being watched by various other States, and its practical appeal may lead to its adoption elsewhere.

HITLER AND PEACE.

The report comes from Berlin that Chancellor Hitler will assemble the Reichstag this week in order that it may form the dramatic setting before which he will proclaim to the world Germany's desire for peace. The announcement is all the more startling since it is heard at the very time that actions at home and the attitude assumed at Geneva had about convinced the world that Nazi militarism was destined to disrupt all plans for disarmament and the hopes for better international understanding that have been forming in recent years.

Whether the new chancellor, who has run rough-shod over every form of republican organization both in governmental and private life, can formulate verbal assurances to offset the reactionary character of the principles which he has so ruthlessly carried into execution, remains an open question. Just why Hitler considers it necessary to call for a parliamentary background from his pronouncement does not appear, further than his desire for publicity. The Reichstag has already rendered itself impotent by giving way to the dictator who now calls upon it to act as stage setting.

The impasse reached at the Geneva conference has served to heighten the tension already existing among continental nations over the implied threat of a revived Prussianism in Germany. The determination of the arms conference to consider the amalgamated millions of the defense organizations of the Reich as soldiers brings the answer quickly heard in Germany, that they will then be made soldiers in fact. On this side of the Atlantic there has always been a sympathetic feeling toward Germany's demand that the allied nations reduce their armaments.

Hitler militarism has caused other European nations to threaten to invoke treaty sanctions against Germany. If the present dispute should bring about an open rupture and an attempt on the part of Germany to increase armaments, the first sanction to be invoked might readily be the reoccupation of the Rhineland. In the interest of peace it is to be hoped that Chancellor Hitler, who is responsible for the present dislocation of disarmament plans, may deliver a message today that will carry reassurance of Germany's intention to bring about a solution of the armaments problem by patient co-operation.

FARM BENEFITS POSTPONED.

Farmers throughout the country can not avoid disappointment at the announcement that the administration's program of acreage reduction and payment of benefits must be postponed because of the tariff truce. This is the most important part of the farm relief act. So long as it is held in abeyance actual relief through the act passed last week will be meager. The proposed big upward push for agricultural prices must now wait upon the World Economic Conference.

Some of President Roosevelt's advisers think the processing taxes could be put into effect without violating the tariff truce. These taxes must be applied to imports as well as to commodities that are processed in this country, so that benefits intended for American farmers will not go to foreigners. Certainly the imposition of such taxes upon domestic and foreign goods alike would not violate the tariff truce any more than does France's import turnover tax just applied. But President Roosevelt is a realist in these matters. He does not intend to apply new imposts while agreeing to a holiday on extension of trade barriers, even though foreign nations may do so.

The result is to throw the farm relief issue into the World Economic Conference. Agricultural interests in other countries will attempt to dissuade the United States from putting the domestic allotment plan into effect because it will put an embargo upon eight basic farm commodities. No other groups are quite so anxious to gain access to the markets of this country as are the farmers of competing agricultural regions.

President Roosevelt has not indicated, however, that he will abandon this attempt to raise prices in the United States above the world market level for the sake of stimulating world trade. Presumably the processing taxes for the purpose of paying American farmers a bounty will become effective after the tariff truce has ended. It is inconceivable that the American delegates to the conference could obtain sufficient concessions to justify abandonment of the domestic price-raising program.

It is well to recognize that the agricultural relief program and the idea of liberating world trade are diametrically opposed. One discourages exportations, shuts off imports of basic crops, and seeks to lift prices within the United States far above world prices. The other seeks to open the floodgates to world trade on a basis of international competition. Which route does the Government propose to follow? It is impossible to move in both directions at the same time.

If the farm relief measure is successful in raising American agriculture above that of other countries, the United States must of necessity maintain its industry on a prosperous basis to provide an outlet for its agricultural crops. An arrangement whereby agricultural imports would be virtually shut off and domestic prices would be raised, while industrial goods would be allowed to flow freely into the United States in competition with American goods, would bring certain disaster. Farmers would lose much of their market at home as well as their market abroad.

Indications are that the economic conference will not substantially alter the trade barriers which the nations have erected to protect their domestic enterprises, and that the program which is aimed to make American farmers less dependent upon foreign markets will be put into effect.

STABILIZATION FUNDS.

Monetary experts are beginning to consider the necessity of providing for an equalization fund similar to that of the great exchange account of the Bank of England, which has been instrumental in preventing violent fluctuations of the pound sterling. The present restrictions on the sale of foreign exchange are not adequate to prevent a sudden and sharp foreign rise in dollar values from the present discount of about 15 per cent.

A large short interest in the dollar is being accumulated abroad. In the recent unsettled condition of American monetary affairs American exporters have been allowing their credits to remain at points of collection. A general movement to return this capital to the United States might result in a violent rise in dollar exchange. There has been no real loss in the value of the dollar; the American trade balance and the gold reserve are as favorable as ever, and no action has been taken to depreciate values within the country. The growing feeling that nothing drastic will be done at present in this direction tends to restore confidence. In foreign countries speculators may change quotations quickly and unsettle business calculations.

There are virtually no restrictions on exchange dealings for Americans in amounts of less than $1,000, larger amounts requiring proof of legitimate necessity for the transaction. But even foreigners desirous of withdrawing capital from this country can still export securities which can be sold abroad, or commodities can be purchased and sent to other countries freely. It seems doubtful that any arrangement will be made to enable the Federal Reserve to take effective steps in connection with managing the currency when necessary before the results of the economic conference are known, but it is a precautionary measure that will have to be considered.

Since Great Britain ceased gold redemption the Bank of England has gradually increased its gold holdings to an unprecedented amount, and yet the equalization fund for the highly confidential manipulation of the exchange market for the benefit of the pound has been recently increased from 150,000,000 pounds to 350,000,000 pounds, showing the importance that these astute and experienced world financiers attribute to the ability to prevent violent fluctuations in the exchange value of their currency which are so disastrous to trade and commerce.

GOLD NUGGET YARNS

By FREDERICK SIMPICH, in the National Geographic Magazine.

Nothing stirs man's imagination more than tales of huge gold nuggets. Small ones have appeared in the craws of chickens and turkeys; children at play have found others. A 14-year-old California boy named Perkins, playing with a toy water wheel in a Calaveras County creek, picked up a nugget worth $1,800.

Near Dutch Flat, in the same State, an old miner, Dan Hill, stooped to wash his hands in a brook and saw in the water a chunk of gold as big as his head. He got $13,300 for it.

North Carolina does not come to mind first as a gold State. Yet records in the United States Mint show that it mined gold as early as 1793. From its old Reed Mine in Cabarrus County came a veritable stream of nuggets that ranged from bean-size up to gold chunks of 28 pounds. A Montgomery County mine belonged to Thomas Faney, a deer hunter, whose favorite pastime was "to go hunting with bullets run from pure gold." Old residents thereabouts tell of a buck killed long after Faney's death, in the shoulder of which was found a piece of gold. It was assumed that this was one of Faney's bullets, with which he had wounded the deer some time while hunting.

The Ural Mountains of Russia have yielded nuggets up to 50 pounds and over. Three convicts found one worth $30,000. It is written that the czar freed the convicts but kept the gold!

A strange story attaches to the "Oliver Martin," largest nugget found in California. Two men, Martin and Fowler, were asleep one night in a canyon when a mountain storm sent a sudden flood rushing down upon them. Fowler was drowned. Next morning Oliver Martin took his pick and shovel and started to bury his dead friend. Hardly had he begun the grave when he struck a nugget. It sold for $22,700 after Martin had first earned $10,000 by exhibiting it.

In New South Wales was found a record nugget, measuring 4 feet 9 inches long, which sold for $148,000.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE NEIGHBOR.

Time was when I was very small
And ill in bed I lay.
A kindly neighbor used to call
Who lived across the way.
Into my room, it seemed to me,
She tripped on fairy feet,
And whispered, oh, so cheerily,
"Here's something good to eat!"

So strangely is the mind impressed,
That neighbor seemed to me
Of all good folks the very best
That I should ever see.
For cookies from her pantry shelf,
A dish of raspberry jam
Or broth which she had made herself
All grateful still I am.

Why should I think of her today?
Well, that I scarcely know,
But one like her went 'cross the way
With tray in hand, and so
I watched her hasten to a door,
And guessed perhaps that she
Was taking jam and cookies for
Some child resembling me.

Beneath the linen spotless white
I knew was something sweet
To tempt a sick child's appetite.
And driving down the street
Thought I, in life there's much that's good,
Despite the wrong man tells;
In every little neighborhood
Some kindly woman dwells.

Candy Is Merely Something Sticky to Those Who Work in a Candy Store.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

It isn't by accident that the hills look green far away. It is one of Nature's tricks. If the distant hills revealed their drabness, as those near at hand do, nobody would be enticed away from home and the race would huddle in one spot to die of starvation.

The girls in far places are fairer than those at home and the lads who come from afar have a charm no lass can resist. Why is it so? Because the clan needs new blood. If neighbors intermarry for generations, minds and bodies weaken.

Nature uses the lure of mystery and the charm of newness to inspire the ambition that makes man a conqueror.

When restless spirits are bored by the drabness of familiar things, they set forth to discover new continents and develop the resources of the earth.

The bold and the young, hungering for romance not seen in familiar ways, are filled with the sublime discontent that inspires all progress.

This discontent is a trick, but it works. It wins laurels. It prompts the climb to higher levels. It invents machines. It produces great works of art. In short, it is responsible for all that the race accomplishes.

And man never discovers the trick until it is too late to matter. He has done his work. The ax is ground.

Philosophers see the truth in the beginning, but the world will not listen to their preaching. It suspects that all philosophy is merely a means of comforting the loser—a realization that grapes beyond reach are sour.

But philosophy is more than that. It is the compensation of those who remain at home to do the chores while the reckless ne'er-do-wells are making discoveries.

In this case, philosophy reveals the truth that all green hills show the brown earth when you get there—that sweets never are as sweet as you thought they would be—that the greatest success seems merely another type of failure when you get accustomed to it.

There is no harm in telling the truth. The bold and the young won't believe it. They will win their laurels before they learn.

But those who can win no laurels need comfort. Let them find it in this: The fine people you long to know are ordinary when you know them and fame itself is a bore when you get accustomed to it. Contentment is a gift—not the result of winning something.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Gigantic Farm Law.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Signature of the farm-relief inflation bill by the President marks the culmination of a long legislative struggle and the accomplishment of a tremendous step forward in the administration's effort to restore our national economic health. In terms of its financial commitments, and also in terms of its possible importance for millions of persons, it is perhaps the most ambitious piece of legislation ever passed by the American Congress.

Standing alone, this bill probably would fail to perform its allotted task. But if followed by decisive action on tariffs and war debts, mortgage relief, railway unification and banking reformation, its effect may be greatly beneficial. Above all, the completion of this legislative measure is proof to every one that the public demand for aggressive action is showing results.

Disarmament Necessary.

Minneapolis Journal.

With the American tariff truce proposal accepted by the eight governments on the organizing committee of the World Economic Conference, one hurdle has been passed. So far, so good—this bodes well for the conference. But there are other hurdles. The statement of President Roosevelt and of Germany's special envoy to the White House series of parleys, Dr. Schacht, acknowledges this point. The conference can not be a success, this communique declares, "unless, along with economic disarmament, there is military disarmament."

In Geneva the disarmament conference is marking time. Frequently on the verge of breakup, its members have been held to their responsibilities at each critical moment by an earnest effort on the part of one government or another. Meanwhile, the play goes on in the capitals of the powers. Now an economic card is played, now an arms card. But in the hands are other cards—those of the war debts.

United Front on Debts?

Detroit News.

It would be interesting to know whether the principal European debtors of Uncle Sam have a secret understanding not to negotiate or settle anything with the United States separately, but to act together.

President Roosevelt announced several weeks ago that the United States is ready to talk about debts and the payment thereof with any debtor nation. Thus far it has not been evident that any country has taken advantage of the offer. There may have been, of course, conversations off the record between the accredited envoys of European powers and officials of our Government, but nothing has transpired to indicate that any progress has been made toward agreement.

Railroad Emergency Bill.

Topeka Capital.

President Roosevelt's railroad bill is frankly declared to be emergency legislation and not a measure to solve the transportation problem, but the latter will come later, probably early in the regular session of Congress which is to convene next January under the Norris constitutional amendment. The present bill, therefore, while it proposes repeal of the recapture clause of the interstate commerce law, does not take up bus, truck, waterway, air or other transportation agencies. The railroads are to wait for this work later.

Must Hustle.

Lexington Herald.

If prosperity comes back fast enough to keep up with Franklin Roosevelt it will have to be satisfied to take the "corner" on two wheels.

Timely Slugger.

Boston Globe.

The President said he doesn't hope to make a hit every time he goes to bat, but nobody has yet forgotten that he went to the plate on March 4 with two strikes on him and delivered in a very neat way.

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE 30-HOUR WEEK? NEVER!

"I call on American wives and mothers to rise against the 30-hour week," declared Mrs. Phineas P. Gooch, the Forgotten Woman, as she invaded this department in high temper today. "It is bad enough to have a husband hanging around the house all day Sunday, let alone having him on the premises an entire week-end or more.

* * * *

"What is the administration thinking of?" demanded Mrs. Gooch, with tears in her eyes. "The mere fact it can talk of happy days and at the same time plan to give the men of America two or three days more to drop cigar ashes all over the American home, find fault with the children and argue over the radio programs shows that it is goofy.

* * * *

"I figure there are twelve waking hours a day or 84 a week. And out of these the proposal is to have the men work only 30. That gives them 54 hours to stay home and litter the house with old newspapers. Is there no justice?

* * * *

"The happiest days of my married life were when Phineas worked six days a week, ten hours a day, and even went to the store Sunday afternoons to attend to some extra work.

* * * *

"When he got Saturday afternoons off he seemed a different man. He'd spend Saturday afternoon taking the auto apart and then spent all day Sunday swearing because he couldn't get it together again, and accusing me and the children of hiding the tools!

* * * *

"That was bad enough, but I didn't know what unhappiness really meant until the last winter when he worked only three days a week and spent the other four at home complaining of things in general.

* * * *

"And now, just when I begin to think things are picking up and good times are returning, I read about the bill to reform business so that he won't have to leave the house more than six hours a day five days a week!

* * * *

"Women of America, arise! Are you awake to this great menace, the 54-hour husband? Do you know what it means to have the old nuisance around the house most of the time? Let us get together and petition Congress before it is too late."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thinks Remonetization of Silver Will Remedy World's Ills.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: During the past three or four years a commercial storm of hurricane proportions has swept the entire globe. Many factors have contributed to the fury of this storm, among them being World War debts, overproduction and faulty distribution of farm products and articles of manufacture. But the main and fundamental cause of all this trouble has been the demonetization of silver.

This nefarious scheme began something over a hundred years ago, when the English pound was a pound of silver. It has been going forward with various success until about five years ago when England put the vast population of India on the gold standard, melting the silver rupee and dumping the bullion on the market. France followed in Indo-China.

Mexico and South American countries made vain efforts to get on the gold standard, and even China with its horde of silver-using peasants exhibited feeble efforts in this direction, until a veritable stampede for gold took place throughout the globe.

England and France and other European countries, many of them heavily indebted to us, went so far as to dump their small change or subsidiary silver. Silver went down like a plummet and all farm products followed silver downward, for there seems to be an indefinable link between silver and farm products.

Meanwhile, under the stress of sticking to what is termed sound money or its equivalent in wealth represented by paper promises to pay, the United States under both Presidents Hoover and Roosevelt has been enacting a vast and complicated program of relief. This program will inevitably result in a bureaucratic Federal Government of gigantic proportions.

Congress has proposed that European countries pay two hundred millions of their indebtedness to us in silver. News of this immediately sent silver up ten cents an ounce and farm commodities also began to climb. Evidently the simple remedy for all our trouble is to remonetize silver by international agreement, thus restoring the purchasing power of more than a billion people.

Meanderer Tells About Ideal Silver for Wedding Gifts.

The Meanderer

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extention 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Finds Tempting Values in Sterling Flatware and Other Pieces for Wedding Gifts, for Homes, for Investments.

Bright against their scarlet plush cases are two beautiful patterns in sterling flatware presented at special prices May 13 to May 27. Nearly everywhere sterling is sold across the whole of the United States. The two weeks' presentation of the two patterns in special low cost sets is significant to shoppers, in that silver, which has increased about 40 per cent in price in the last two months, is expected to increase still further in price.

The two patterns especially priced were shown to the Meanderer in two Washington silver shops. The Minuet, in Colonial design, and the Orchid, a pattern of modern design, are in sets for four persons at $41.35, or in sets for six persons for $57.50. The regular price of the Minuet in service for four is $59.20, and the regular price of the Orchid for four persons, is $64.20. In the service for six the regular price of the Minuet is $83.50, and of the Orchid, $90.50.

The minuet design was chosen as typically American by fine arts authorities. The graceful lines of the design is said to be taken from the doors of the American Museum of Natural Arts in New York. This pattern, according to a silver buyer in a shop with a complete sterling ware department, has appealed widely to New England and other Eastern sections.

Thirteen tons of silver were purchased by producers of silver tableware to make possible the gigantic, Nation-wide offering of flatware sets at special prices.

"Plated silver sold three years ago for as much as is asked now for one of these patterns," one Washington silver buyer told the Meanderer.

The minuet pattern of flat sterling was chosen by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge for the White House, and is used there in complete service.

Authentic reproductions of colonial candlesticks may not belong in this column on special silver prices, but the Meanderer knows her readers well enough to know that they'll like to know of these candlesticks, beautiful and sturdy enough to become heirlooms. The pair costs $17.50. They have the guarantee of the high-class shop in which they are selling stamped on the base of the candlesticks—reading "three and a half ounces sterling." This pair of candlesticks is certain to find its proper place in this historic vicinity—with the early American mantels of restored old houses as the perfect background for them.

A tea service of five pieces in the Revere design is hand made and is marked $125. It includes teapot, coffee pot, sugar, creamer and waste bowl. Other items that interested the Meanderer were sterling water goblets at $5, and sterling cocktail glasses at $3.

Steiff silver in seven patterns is offered by one of the silver shops the Meanderer visited at prices lower than those quoted for the minuet and orchid patterns. The seven Steiff patterns are Rose, Clinton, Puritan, Betsy Patterson in two designs, Forget-me-not, Lady Claire and Princess.

WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

HOT ISSUES AND COLD SALADS GET TOGETHER BIG, THIS YEAR

By ANN BARRETT

CAN salads save the day? Confronted with the burning question of what to eat when warm weather creeps up, most women will answer yes. So maybe it's a good omen for the Nation's hot issues that President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and other Government dignitaries go after cool, crisp salads in a big way.

Here, for example, is the tasty combination of cooked and raw vegetables the Roosevelts like so much the Nation has named it for them. Just mix the following: ½ cup diced celery, ¼ cup shredded white cabbage, ¼ cup shredded red cabbage, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, ½ cup diced cooked carrots, ½ cup cooked peas, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup mayonnaise.

If you want to take time to give this a still more tasty flavor, first let the carrots and peas stand in refrigerator at least an hour in 2 tablespoons French dressing and 1 teaspoon minced onion. Serve it with hot biscuits or muffins—and simple as it is, you'll have slick eating.

Molded Salads Doubly Cool.

This is the kind of salad you can make doubly cool and refreshing for warm days, by molding it in shivery gelatin, with the mayonnaise served as garnish. Say a half package lemon-flavored gelatin, pepped up with 1 tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice added to the 1 cup water used for dissolving. Of course you may vary the vegetables to suit your fancy. String beans, beets, asparagus, cucumber, tomato, are all good in such a salad. Remember to let the gelatin thicken a little before putting vegetables in, so they won't float.

All these molded salads are great fun to do in an automatic refrigerator. Turn them right into the trays, and cut or slice them out when ready to serve. But with or without an automatic refrigerator, you'll find the new little individual molds a great help—either in metal or paper. And so inexpensive, you can let yourself go, without the least twinge of conscience.

Jellied Cucumber Salad.

So here's another molded salad. A good many people I know think no fish should be caught on the table without this salad in tow.

It starts with 3 cups peeled sliced cucumbers cooked in 2 cups cold water until tender. Then add ½ teaspoon minced onion, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Next soak 1½ tablespoons gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold water, and add to cucumber mixture. Stir till dissolved. Next add 2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice, 1 teaspoon powdered sugar, and (if you like, a tiny bit of green coloring or spinach juice.) Strain this through cheesecloth, and cool till it starts to set. Then add 1½ cups crisp, diced cucumber. Chill in molds or trays of automatic refrigerator, and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Quick Tomato Aspic.

Another salad that's delicious—and so quick to make you can hardly believe it's true—is tomato soup salad. If this isn't turning a hot issue into cool enjoyment, I want to know! Here's how: Dissolve 1 package lemon-flavored gelatin in ⅞ cup hot water (warm water, if it's the new kind of gelatin). Add 1 can tomato soup and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Pour into molds or tray of automatic refrigerator.

Cooked fish molded in this aspic is very good. Say ½ cup of it (shrimp, crab or lobster), ½ cup finely chopped celery, and 2 tablespoons finely chopped olives.

Molded Cheese Salads.

As for what you can do with cream cheese and store cheese as the base for molded salads, this is so full of possibilities it's just everybody's business. Cheee with olive, nuts, pimento, pepper, onion, celery. With fruits, too. And with both fruits and vegetables as in the following recipe—shown in our picture: Cream 1 individual package cream cheese (3 ounces), with 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons thick, cooked salad dressing. Then add 2 tablespoons chopped pimento and ½ cup canned pineapple cut in cubes. Then whip ½ cup cream and fold it in. Freeze this 4 hours in automatic refrigerator tray, and cut out in squares. Or pack in equal parts of ice and salt, and freeze.

Another good cheese salad combines prunes and pecans with cream cheese like this: Cream 2 packages cream cheese (6 ounces). Mix with 1 cup unsweetened prune pulp (made by pressing 2 cups pitted prunes through a sieve.) Add ½ cup chopped pecans, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Then whip ½ cup cream and stir it in. Put into automatic refrigerator tray or pack into mold, and freeze in equal parts of ice and salt.

Send for More Recipes.

There is so much to say about salads, I could write a book on them. And I pretty nearly have! For instance, I have a new 5-page bulletin "Molded Salads for Every Day," and cheese, meat, fish, vegetables, fruits doubly tasty by molding them. If you'd like this just send me an addressed envelope with 6 cents in stamps and coupon below.

Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

A Too Close Bond.

A BROTHER and sister who had always played together with a special degree of affectionate harmony struck a first difficulty through their happy relationship when for the first time both were sent to dancing school.

Until this happened they had been together to the virtual exclusion of other companionship. Lessons had been done at home with a tutor, and such occasional playmates as they had found had always played impartially with them both at common games.

Now at dancing school the teacher did not permit them to choose each other as partners, but insisted upon their dancing exclusively with other children.

Both resented this at first, especially the little girl, who afterward gave her mother accounts of the awkwardness and stupidity of her brother's partners. Particularly was she vindictive about any little girl with whom he had danced more than once.

Her jealousy was undisguised, as it can be in childhood, and it was several months before the fun of being sought out by other boys offered compensation enough for her loss of complete ownership of her brother to cause her to go to dancing school willingly.

Brothers and sisters who are especially fond of one another and who through circumstances have depended exclusively on one another for companionship always have this sort of adjustment to make—and the sooner it is made the better.

The Mode

By DARE

IT isn't the cost, it's the upkeep—of cottons. Because you must never think for a moment that a cotton frock or coat can be worn a minute longer than once—and often not that long. Furthermore, one has to patronize the very best "blanchi" else one lacks elegance—in cotton.

A famous character of Panama is a large man, American, who wears the tropical white suit day and night, as does everyone else. but, this man is never wrinkled, never crushed, never damp looking, as is everyone else. After fifteen years of his mystery, 'twas finally discovered that he changed his suit five to eight times a day!

You have to change a cotton frock more often than you ever dreamed of changing a silk one. A morning will do for one, then another one has to be fresh from the iron for luncheon, and a third has to be donned for afternoon, because the only real chic to cotton is its freshness. Some of the best winter-summer resorts have even installed an ironing board and electric iron in the rest room—for frequent unwrinkling of cotton evening gowns! Thus only can Miladi be her loveliest and daintiest self in cotton.

Why have an orgy of washing pretties if you only do it halfway? I know a lovely lady—well, never mind! Anyhow, when you wash a piece of lingerie, do tint it, mend it, and in general do everything to it that there is to do. And if you wash only one, let that one get its full share of attention—rather than washing tons and tons of accumulated pretties—and then putting aside for hasty ironing. I know a—well, never mind.

• • • •

The convertable fox capelet-scarf is new, and a relief from the simple fox scarf. In this capelet, very, very flattering, one finds silver fox, and the soft azure of fox that seems so particularly spring-like in coloring, and blends so well with lighter spring and summer shades.

• • • •

A delightful and chic and unusual trimming is made with thread and hoops or rings, any size, any color. There is a way to do it, of course. And then these covered rings are fashioned into trimming of various sorts, and into separate novelty jewelry which is astonishingly effective. This week's illustrated leaflet tells you how to make these rings, and it also tells you how to fringe, handfringing, both kinds. Don't you think a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, would bring you back a most interesting leaflet? I do, and am sure you will, too, when you see it!

A shallow crown—but not too shallow, is the story. If your face is long and thin, contrary to the accepted idea, the shallow crown is not your best line. Neither is a crown with something built up on it. So figure that out very carefully, if your face is thus. Otherwise, keep your eye on the draped crowns, and the beret versions that have crests and pompons atop them.

Cotton finds its way into shoes, both inexpensive and very expensive ones. Some of the newest cotton shoes for summer wear have an eyelet effect outlined in fine kid, which makes them very expensive indeed. And cotton shoes dye well, several times, until thy finally emerge any dark, off and odd shade.

Au revoir.

Keeping Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

GOOD AND BAD AIR.

NO one has a satisfactory answer to the question, what makes bad air bad, or to its companion, why is fresh air so invigorating. An old time theory was that the body threw off poisonous gases. This was called crowd poison. The belief had to be abandoned. Another was that carbonic acid was the harmful element in bad air. The Black Hole of Calcutta experience was offered in proof of that argument. It, too, had to be given up.

Today, so far from abusing carbonic acid, physicians now keep it on tap to use in the treatment of some disorders.

Another theory was that carbon monoxide was the harmful element. That gas is very harmful, it is true, but it is not present except where it is produced in some unusual way, as around a poor stove or an automobile exhaust.

The idea that has most adherents now is that the comfort and discomfort, the good and the harm, is the result of what is called air condition—that is, its temperature, humidity, movement, and degree of cleanness. While this theory explains things better than any other, it falls down in some places and it is generally thought that there is a something else that plays a part.

We know that a food may be perfect from the standpoint of calory content, of digestibility, and assimilability, but it may be deficient because of some lack of the mysterious substance that we call vitamins. There are those who think that the ion is the mysterious agent needed to complete the theory that the benefits of air or its baneful effects are due to air conditioning.

Yaglou, Benjamen, and Brandt report on an extended series of examinations of air for its ion content. Some of their conclusions are:

In Boston the ion content of the outside air varies according to the season. It is higher in the summer than in the winter, on clear days, at noon, and at midnight. It is low on gray days, days of fog, cloud, and rain and at sunset and sunrise.

The ion content of air in unoccupied rooms was about that of outside air. This applies to heated rooms on fairly warm days. In cold weather it was higher in heated rooms than it was in the outside air.

When people began to assemble in a room the ion content of the air commenced to drop. It went to near zero in a short time, it remained low as long as the people stayed in the room, and it began to rise as soon as they vacated. This was attributed to absorption of the ions by the clothing, though breathing and absorption by the skin helped the process. Woolen clothes absorbed most ions and rayon least. Air fresh from the lungs contained no ions.

Letting fresh air come into an occupied room caused the ion content of the air to rise, provided it was admitted in large quantities. The amount required for this purpose was at least five times the standard requirement of most laws and practices.

There was no particular difference, as far as ions were concerned, between natural and mechanical ventilation.

Heating washing, and humidifying in combination removed all the ions. Heating by the fan method increased the ions. Cooling air decreased them.

The investigators express no opinion as to the advantage of any heating system over any other. They do not even discuss whether ions make for health or for all health.

"PARTNER, I hoped that you would have that Ace," remarked North, after West led the Ace of clubs and when, as Dummy, he laid down the hand below. He had just redoubled a Grand Slam contract which had for its principal basis an exceptionally goulash type of distribution.

"I am sorry, but I haven't," was the partner's apparently disgusted and disappointed reply, but even with this, he reached across to the score pad and proceeded to put down these figures:

and then spread his hand upon the table, for the relief of his partner and the discomfiture of his opponents. Possibly the gloating was in bad taste, but there are many who are guilty of it.

The setting was Crockford's Club in San Francisco, a new organization, patterned after its namesake in New York and the still older Crockford's in London. The hand, with the participants, was:

North and South vulnerable.

2—Expecting, and willing, to go to a Small Slam.
3—A Forcing Pass, leaving it to partner to do something.
4—A fair gamble either way—that the heart Slam may be made or that the North-South hands click.
5—The club Ace makes it look like a "cinch" set.
6—After making the bid, North said: "I am doing it on a sporting chance."

It will be noted that this is a most extraordinary type of goulash. Two players have voids in two suits; the others each have a void in one suit and a singleton King in another. I have frequently noticed that, due to some peculiarity of the Law of Symmetry, singleton Kings have a habit of reproducing themselves. The reason, however, I do not know.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

Goldsboro, N. C., May 15 (A.P.).—When a swarm of bees settled on a gasoline tank of an automobile on a main street here, the Rev. A. J. Smith knew just what to do.

He obtained a cardboard box, found the queen bee and put her inside. Instantly the others buzzed into the box and the minister walked off home, bought a hive and set up his own apiary.

Scandinavian Treaties Signed for British Coal

London, May 15 (A.P.).—Increased markets for Great Britain's coal are understood to be the feature of two new trade agreements signed at the foreign office today with Norway and Sweden.

Details of the agreements will not be revealed for several days, but it is understood they will be much like those recently signed with Denmark and Germany, by which England gave reduced tariff rates to certain imports in return for guarantees of greater consumption of British coal.

What Today Means

"TAURUS."

IF May 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 a. m. to 9:55 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. and from 6:45 p. m. to 8:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:20 p. m. and from 10:10 p. m. to 11:15 p. m.

This May 16 may see the beginning of a series of personal annoyances that will prove very irritating indeed. You will have to "take yourself firmly in hand" and strive to rise above them.

The child born on this May 16 will have a naturally fine character. For a little one he will have an unusually broad spiritual outlook that will early manifest itself. Spontaneous and witty, he will provoke a great deal of laughter.

If May 16 is the date of your birth, you are a "plugger" and your successes in life will come, not suddenly, but only after a long, strenuous and steady "pull." Yours is a very even temperament; a fiery temper is kept under good control and is slow to kindle. You are not inspirational in the way you go about your work. A fixed manner of existence is much to your liking. Work, routine in nature, is not necessarily dull to you. There is some element of creativeness in your make-up, but should it seek expression in music or in some other form of art the result is likely to be ponderous and oppressive.

Successful people born on May 16:
William H. Seward, statesman.
Levi P. Morton, financier and statesman.
Philip D. Armour, merchant.
Charles M. Lamson, clergyman.
Charles S. Reinhart, artist.
Frank Lynes, composer.

Prohibition Repeal Facing Big Hurdle in Indiana June 6

Indianapolis, Ind., May 15 (U.P.).—Proposed repeal of the eighteenth amendment faces its first severe test June 6 when Indiana elects delegates to a State repeal convention.

Wet leaders claim and dry leaders admit that if the traditionally dry Hoosier State votes for ratification it will prove the wet contention that public sentiment has turned against prohibition.

The three States which have voted on the question—Michigan, Wisconsin, and Rhode Island—all ratified by overwhelming majorities. Drys claim, however, that these States were wet strongholds and did not reflect accurately national sentiment on the question.

Until the Legislature repealed Indiana's stringent enforcement law last February, the State had been considered second only to Kansas in its faith in prohibition.

The coming election will be the first in which Indiana citizens have had an opportunity to record a popular vote on prohibition except in case of local option. Despite a wet majority in the Legislature, neither faction is anxious to predict the outcome.

The wets have two distinct advantages.

Between now and June 6, nearly $500,000 in taxes collected under the State beer control law will be distributed among counties, cities and towns. This money will be used largely to help defray school expenses, resulting in lower property taxes.

Distribution of the money was planned by the Democratic administration to counteract dry opposition. The Democratic State platform pledged repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the State dry law.

The wets will have a second and even greater advantage in apportionment of the 329 delegates to be selected. They feel virtually assured of 120 delegates from the industrial centers.

The campaign this far has been unusually quiet despite its national importance.

Burden of the wet campaign has fallen to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment and women's antiprohibition organizations sponsored by Mrs. Meredith Nicholson, jr., daughter-in-law of the Hoosier author.

Churches, the W. C. T. U. and the Antisaloon League are leading the drys' fight. William Lowe Bryan, president of Indiana University, and L. E. York, Antisaloon League president, are outstanding leaders.

Camden Employes Find Cash in Pay Envelopes

Camden, N. J., May 15 (A.P.).—For the first time since March 15 Camden City and county employes found cash in their pay envelopes today. Ten thousand dollars in cash, made possible by increased tax receipts, and $40,000 in scrip met the pay roll.

School board employes, who are paid at the end of the month, likely will receive some cash also, officials said.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

ED WYNN, who in addition to his other accomplishments promises to be the "bad boy" in radio, evidently decided to have a joke at the expense of the American Association of Advertising Agencies convention last week. At any rate whether intentional or not he succeeded in "getting their goat."

It came about through a press release issued on the stationery of the Amalgamated Broadcasting System which read, in part, as follows:

"Members of the A.A.A.A. meeting in Washington had before them a revolutionary radio advertising policy advanced by the officials of the Amalgamated Broadcasting System, the new national radio chain of which Ed Wynn is president.

"Mr. Wynn, who was invited to address the delegates at Thursday night's annual dinner at the Hotel Mayflower, was unable to attend, but other officials of this third nation's radio networks cooperated with convention delegates in setting forth the plan.

"Hailed by advertising men, editors and Federal officials as the genesis of 'the new deal' in radio's public relations the plan of the A. B. S. is a three-point one:

"First, elimination of offensive and lengthly trade announcements in radio advertising programs or, as Mr. Wynn puts it, 'blabless radio.'

"Second, inclusive national schedules for newspaper-radio advertisers, whereby each form of advertising shall be 'geared in' with the other.

"Third, cooperation, rather than hostility, between the radio and the Nation's daily and periodical press."

"In connection with the first point, delegates heard the results of a survey made by one of their members, Frank A. Arnold, former executive of the National Broadcasting Co. and now vice president of a large advertising agency" the A. B. S. Mess release continued "Mr. Arnold's survey showed that radio listeners-in are showing cumulative offense at long-drawn-out, intrusive and irrelevant ballyhoos in the midst of radio entertainment.

"Why does the advertiser," asked Mr. Arnold, "tell his story so well in newspaper print in 200 words and yet require 600 words when he tells it on the air?" Continuing Mr. Arnold, who was director of development for N. B. C. for six years, told of a personal study of a large guest audience which was forced to listen to 725 words of commercial ballyhoo. "After the first 200 words all interest was lost," he said.

HOWEVER, when the newspapermen asked Sam Fuson, press representative of the Advertising Agencies Association, what action they had taken on Ed Wynn's plan he said the proposition had not even been presented to the convention. He said all the delegates knew about it was what they saw in the press release.

"The matter did not come before the convention., Mr. Fuson declared, "and the agency represented by Mr. Arnold is not a member of our association."

Margaret Case, managing editor of Vogue, will discuss "Summer Party Frocks" when she appears in the Woman's Radio Review, during the program over WRC at 2:30 p. m.

Grace Moore, soprano, of musical comedy and opera, will be soloist on the new Chesterfield series, starting Friday, June 2. Miss Moore will be costarred with Lou Holtz and Lennie Hayton's Orchestra in a half-hour show.

"Nervousness in Women" will be the subject of the talk to be heard in the program of the New York Academy of Medicine over WJSV at 10:30 a. m. The speaker will be Dr. Clarence P. Oberndorf, chairman of the section of neurology and psychiatry of the academy.

Miss Helen Richards Aldworth, superintendent of the Newark (N.J.) Airport, one of the busiest flying fields in the country, will speak in a program under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. over WJSV at 4:45 p. m.

"The Irish Philosopher," Tommy Bohany, will be with us again tonight over WMAL, at 7:45 o'clock.

THE activities of the War Department will be discussed by Secretary George H. Dern, in a talk over WRC at 9:30 p. m., in the National Radio Forum.

The Navy Band will return to WJSV after an absence of several months this afternoon at 3:00.

The band will offer programs of patriotic music in acordance with Secretary Swanson's recent order.

So great has been the response to the programs of "The Voice of Experience," since he started his series of broadcasts on April 24, that he has been granted an additional weekly sustaining period, in order that he may answer more of his listeners' problems. Starting today, he will be heard over WJSV at 1:30 p. m., every Tuesday.

His sponsored programs continue as before, daily, except Saturday and Sunday, at 10 a. m., and Wednesday at 7 p. m.

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT will be the guest of honor at a luncheon meeting of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be broadcast over WMAL at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Ted Lewis, the "high-hatted tragedian of song," will have his entire band present when he is interviewed on the "Meet the Artist" broadcast over WJSV this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Lewis will augment the questions and answers with his full rendition of his radio signature, "When My Baby Smiles at Me." This is the oldest theme song on the air waves today, for Lewis first introduced it to the microphone on the occasion of his radio debut over KDKA, Pittsburgh, twelve years ago.

Perhaps he will tell how he won his ever-present and battered high hat more than seventeen years ago from old "Mississippi," the beaming cabby, who parked his horse and buggy outside Rector's. It has remained a Ted Lewis trade-mark to this day, together with his "Is everybody happy?"

"THREE Maids and a Mike" make their debut on the Abner Drury Brewery program over WJSV today, at 6:15 p. m. (Eastern standard time). The three girls—Grace, Hazel and Jane Shannon—have skyrocketed to local radio fame practically overnight. Each time they are heard the studios are said to be flooded with telephone calls. Their fan mail rating is highest on the station even though they were heard but four times on a preceding local commercial program.

The WJSV Players, a new dramatic organization being heard every Tuesday evening at 10:15 o'clock, will offer "A Stage Door Romance" tonight. The leads in the play will be handled by Donald Austin, Yvonne Kushner and Justin Winkle.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—The "alimony hotel" may soon be a thing of the past, what with Gov. Lehman coming to the rescue of husbands who board at the expense of the State because they don't come across with the necessary payments to keep their estranged wives in soup and ermines.

Manhattan's alimony jail has, for several years, been the scene of many interesting stories. It was brought definitely in the public eye a few weeks ago when physicians warned that one inmate would die unless released. Although his wife wouldn't consent, a kind-hearted justice finally signed the release. But it was too late. The husband died a few days later.

Then Justice Bonynge, of Brooklyn, characterized many of these alimony wives as similar to the gladiatorial women of Rome "wont to turn thumbs down at the arena there."

However, I know one New Yorker who won't approve of the abolition of the "alimony jail." A prominent restaurateur, he has been paying alimony to his estranged wife for several years. But she is a natural-born nagger and is constantly devising tricks to annoy her erstwhile mate.

His Rest Cure.

When his nerves are worn to a frazzle he has an ever-present remedy. He merely neglects to pay the alimony a few weeks, is sent to the alimony jail where he can recuperate during a few peaceful weeks behind the bars—the one place in town where his wife can't get at him.

Brunet Lilliam Clark is the newest Cinderella to get her big chance with the Metropolitan Opera. But she doesn't want much public notice; doesn't care particularly for publicity.

"I'd rather work my way along gradually," she says. "I don't want to get started with too much glory. I've worked hard, but this is just the beginning."

A San Francisco girl, she began studying piano at the age of 5. She kept this up for 10 years, and then began singing. She is a soprano. She is going.

She was married when 18 years old to Rolando Leroy Riviera, a sculptor and artist.

Stock Rallies Fail to Halt Another Market Decline

One-Point Loss Recorded as Sales Dwindle to 3,170,760 Shares.

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—Reactions that settled over financial markets toward the close of last week were still apparent today, making further dents in stocks.

Shares spent a rather routine five hours. With the exception of another boost for the wet issues, fluctuations tended toward narrowness and volume lightened. An early sag was interrupted by a midday rally, but the list again eased and final prices were largely lower, to moderate extent.

Markets seemed to be awaiting developments, both domestic and foreign. Washington's revival of the manufacturers' sales tax idea as a means of carrying national indebtedness to be created by the Government's emergency program interested Wall Street, which noted that talk of increased levies on income had died down. The situation with respect to Germany and the powers may have prompted caution in speculative markets here; Germon bonds slumped and the reichsmark declined.

Alcohol and kindred issues enjoyed a busy day on the stock exchange. Traders did not miss what they regarded as an opportunity provided by liberalization of prescription regulations, and by imminence of additional State votes on repeal. Several of these issues were up 4 points or so at one time; National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, and Crown Cork finished up 2 to 3, while Liquid Carbonic's net gain was nearly 5. Owens-Illinois, recently a fast mover, had a temporary advance.

Industrials as a whole were sluggish. Dupont's regular dividend of 50 cents was hardly a surprise and the shares were unresponsive, closing a point off. Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, National Steel, American Can, International Harvester and American Tobacco "B" had similar net losses. Rails drooped toward the close, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Delaware & Hudson yielding a point or more. Packing company shares firmed as hog prices again advanced. American Telephone, whose dividend meeting comes Wednesday, was about steady. Sales totaled 3,170,760 shares.

Foreign exchanges favored the dollar. Dealers ascribed the mild upturn partly to Europe's preoccupation with her own affairs and partly to a revision of views abroad with respect to currency inflation here.

Stocks.

Reactions continued. Rallies failed to halt the downward trend, and the average loss on the list was 1 point. Sales dwindled to 3,170,760 shares.

Bonds.

Cross currents retarded trading in bonds. Dealers waited for clarification of European uncertainities. The loss averaged one-tenth of a point. Sales decreased to $11,474,000.

Curb.

Prices showed strength at the close after early irregular fluctuations. Sales volume declined to 363,000 shares.

Wheat.

Wheat values sagged as corn and oats climbed. Liverpool prices and European political conditions were blamed for wheat's weakness. May wheat sold at 72½ cents.

Cotton.

Recoveries in prices failed to halt closing losses. The decline was 14 to 20 points. Liverpool reported the market as barely steady. July sold at 8.56.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for May 12 were $4,861,641.62; expenditures, $13,029,814.80; balance, $457,182,051.30. Customs duties for 12 days of May were $8,910,712.04.

CURB PRICES FIRMER AFTER EARLY LOSS

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—Stocks milled about indifferently on the curb today to close narrowly irregular. A rally during midday saved some of the losses that were suffered in the early dealings, but this show of strength faded in the final hour.

A few specialties subject to a thin market, were able to hold substantial gains. Pepperell Manufacturing came under this category, moving up 10¼ points on a few transactions. Great Atlantic & Pacific added 4½ points to its recent advances. Benson Hedges advanced 4½.

Among the "beer" issues Hazel Atlas Glass gained nearly 5 points while Armstrong Cork was up ½.

Most utilities were narrowly irregular throughout the day and finished the session at fractional variations from their previous closes. Transfer approximated 368,000 shares compared with 637,000 last Friday.

Heavy Steel Buying Hailed As Plan For Long Upturn

Cleveland, May 15 (A.P.).—With steel woorks operating at 36 per cent of capacity, the highest since June, 1931, the Magazine Steel said today that iron and steel interests are convinced the present improvement is deeper rooted than a belated spring rise.

New bookings for finished steel last week were sufficiently heavy to push the operating rate up 3 points, build moderate backlogs in some products and defer deliveries, the magazine said in its weekly summary.

Persistent buying by steel makers in their efforts to accumulate stocks of basic materials indicates the foundation is being laid for a long upswing in operations, which seasonal conditions this summer will not vitiate," the magazine added.

Operations in the Wheeling district last week led the country with a rate of 65 per cent, up 4 points. Cleveland was second at 54 per cent, a gain of 6 points, the Youngstown district advanced 10 points, to 43; Chicago, 1½, to 31; Pittsburgh, 2, to 24; Birmingham, 6, to 20; Philadelphia, 1, to 16½, and Detroit and Buffalo held at 38 per cent. Some tin plate mills were operating at 100 per cent, the average for all being 60.

The rise in scrap prices has slowed up the demand for this class of material, the magazine said, because scrap prices have practically caught up with pig iron.

SILK MARKET.

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—Raw silk futures closed easier; sales, 320 bales. *May, 1.45; July, 1.43; *October, 1.43. Open market quotations (60-day basis): Shanghai steam filature 7/8 pct. seriplane 20/22a, 1.42; Canton double extra, "A" 14/16a, 1.22; Japanese special crack double extra 3/4 pct. seriplane, 13/15a, 1.57.
*Bid.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—Cotton goods were quiet today, influenced by a weaker opening in raw cotton. Buying became a little more active in the afternoon. Mail orders were again large. Rayon yarns are very firm and leaders are sold through July. Burlaps continued firm. Wool goods are more active with purchasers willing to take on more fall goods than agents will sell. More interest is developed in silk goods.

BOND MARKET SAGS IN QUIETER TRADING

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—Cautionary cross-currents seemingly retarded progress in the bond market today as the more active traders and investors shifted to the sidelines to await clarification of imminent European uncertainties.

It was the dullest full day's session in nearly three weeks, sales totaling only $11,474,000, par value. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans sagged one-tenth of a point.

While the domestic corporate groups generally mulled about in a narrow range, German obligations slumped 1 to more than 6 points, to new lows for the year, and issues of Great Britain, Poland and Japan were off fractionally to more than a point. Bonds of Switzerland and France, however, rallied about a point.

Moderately heavy tone was displayed by some bonds of Wabash, Texas & Pacific, Postal Telegraph, Otis Steel, New Haven, New York Central, Missouri Pacific and Illinois Central.

Globe & Rutgers Assets Gain Under State Aid

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—Security assets of the Globe & Rutgers Fire Insurance Co. increased in value $4,816,444 between March 25 when the company was placed in the hands of the State Insurance Department, and last Friday, the reorganization committee announced today.

The company, under the ruling of the courts, has until May 20 to prove capacity for rehabilitating itself by obtaining sufficient assents from policyholders and other claimants to a plan calling for the issuance of new preferred stock, and the making of other capital changes.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Overshadowed by the European situation, prices on the stock exchange recorded general declines. German bonds were weakest and declined to 2 to 4 points but closed above their lowest for the day. Hesitancy in the market caused a drooping in gilt-edged securities and kaffirs. While industrials also suffered on profit-taking, Transatlantic issues weakened on unfavorable Wall street reports, making only slight recoveries later. The closing was unsettled.

Paris—Prices on the bourse lost ground under pressure of European uncertainties. Electric issues and other sections that improved recently were most affected, although quotations declined generally. The market closed heavy.

Berlin—The tone of the boerse was unsettled and prices closed weaker.

CORN AND OATS UP AS WHEAT DECLINES

Latter's Weakness Is Laid to Political Situations in Europe.

Chicago, May 15 (A.P.).—Prospects of a renewal of widespread rainfall put corn traders' nerves on edge today, and corn prices averaged higher despite weakness shown by wheat.

A disposition was manifest in the wheat market to await further developments at Washington as to administration of the farm relief inflation bill. Many wheat traders expressed themselves skeptical of reports from Washington that provisions as to a processing tax would not be applied until fall.

Corn closed skittish at the same as Saturday's finish to ⅛ higher; wheat ⅞ to ¾ down; oats, ⅛ to ⅜ up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents off.

Matter of Weather.

Leading market authorities said the corn market was purely a weather affair, and that seriousness of the situation lay in the fact that practically no preparation of corn land in many areas of the belt had been possible.

Friends of higher prices contended that it would require a number of days of dry weather to permit of farmers getting into the fields. Appearance of fair weather over the greater part of the corn belt Saturday had led to hopes that prolonged adverse conditions would be reversed, but reports today told of heavy new rains Southwest and up the Ohio Valley, with some indications that downpours would prove general.

Iowa Reports Bearish.

Uncertainties of corn traders were complicated by bearish reports from Iowa. One summary said that a 445-mile trip from Cedar Rapids to Carroll, south to Hamlin and back east via Des Moines to Cedar Rapids, corn planting was in full blast.

This big section of Iowa's corn territory was reported as looking like a garden, and it was added that with a very few more days of favorable weather a large percentage of corn would be under the ground under most auspicious conditions.

Wheat weakness was ascribed largely to unexpected setbacks in Liverpool prices and weer associated with tense political conditions in Europe. Contributing to bearish sentiment was word of favorable weather for spring wheat seeding in Canada. Oats fluctuated with corn.

Provisions averaged lower, responsive to action of hog values and of grains.

COTTON PRICES CUT IN SPITE OF UPTURN

July Sells at 8.56, With the General Market Down 14 to 20 Points.

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—A sharp early break in cotton today was followed by partial recoveries on covering combined with renewed trade and commission house buying.

July contracts, after selling at 8.44 at the start, rallied to 8.74, but met increased offerings at that figure and closed at 8.56. The general market closed steady at net declines of 14 to 20 points.

The opening was 24 to 34 points lower, with active months showing net losses of 27 to 40 points during the first few minutes under more or less general selling. The heavy offerings were attributed to reports that some of the farm bill provisions might be delayed.

Increase in Demand.

Offerings were taken by an increased demand at the decline and price stiffened on a scattering demand from trade and commission house sources.

Early afternoon advances carried the market up to 8.98 for October and 9.14 for December, or about 20 to 30 points above the low level of the forenoon. The volume of business tapered off at the advance, however, and closing quotations were 8 or 9 points off from the best on most active positions.

Unsettled European political conditions were also mentioned in connection with some of the foreign selling here. Liverpool cables reported a barely steady market there, with realizing and a disappointing offtake. Houses with Liverpool and continental connections were among the early sellers here, while there was also some selling by the South.

Local spot merchants report that the domestic mills continue to buy spot cotton quite freely and that the basis is steady although cotton was not so hard to buy as a short time ago. Exports today 23,552 making 6,681,214 so far this season. Port receipts 16,023. United States port stocks, 4,087,160.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

OF all the distinguished actors who have lent their talents to the cinema, none has permitted himself to be less "typed" by adherence to a fixed character or a single style of vehicle than George Arliss.

George Arliss.

He has played everything from mystery melodrama, as typified by "The Green Goddess," to historical biography — "Disraeli," "Alexander Hamilton" and the impending "Voltaire"—and from the comedy of big business, "The Millionaire," to the whimsical sentimentality of a monarch in quest of peace and quiet, as exemplified in "The King's Vacation."

All of these diverse assignments that sterling actor has dispatched with the artistry to be expected of one whose preeminence was established as long ago as his assumption of the role of Eric, the poet, in the late Mrs. Fiske's production of "Rosmersholm," enacted years ago by her Manhattan Company, led by herself in association with Bruce McRae, Fuller Mellish, Mr. Arliss and numerous others of like renown.

With all of this brilliant record of achievement before the cameras and microphones, however, it is doubtful if Mr. Arliss ever has had so completely human, engaging and amusing a screen play as "The Working Man."

In this cleverly contrived study of a manufacturer who pitches in with might and main to give his own organization a thorough licking in order that the legacy of his best friend and bitterest rival may be preserved for his wastrel heirs, Mr. Arliss has opportunity to play upon both the deeply rooted virtues and the easily touched surface risibilities that are common to all intelligent human beings. Here he has a chance to bluster, to cajole, to wheedle and to command; to be the compassionate counsellor and the domineering bully. His is a part that runs the gamut of human moods and emotions, as the saying is, and leaves an audience alive, uplifted and genuinely inspired.

It is not surprising, the success of the recent run of this picture at the Earle having been what it was, that it should be promptly booked into the Metropolitan for a continuation of a downtown engagement that might have run on indefinitely save for the inexorable demands of other bookings and a strict house policy.

Realizing that delay might prove fatal under the circumstances, the Warner executives have wisely decided to move the extended run of "The Working Man" up three days from the Friday originally announced for the Metropolitan. The renewed run of the picture, therefore, will begin this morning at the corner of Tenth and F streets with an especially assembled list of appropriate supplementary attractions to augment the bill.

While Mr. Arliss comes dangerously near being the alpha and omega of "The Working Man's" irresistible appeal, it would be the part of rank injustice not to give Bette Davis, Hardie Albright, Gordon Westcott, Theodore Newton, J. Farrell MacDonald and the numerous others who appear so advantageously to themselves and the film, due credit, for the value of their worthy contributions.

Unless it has already been viewed, no judicious amusement seeker will permit "The Working Man" to elude his attention—unless, of course, he is trying to miss one of the best pictures of the year!

Speaking of distinguished actors, this column already is being vigorously upbraided for its temerity in having intimated that it preferred Alfred Lunt's performance of the role of Prince Rudolph Maximilian of Hapsburg, in the stage version of "Reunion in Vienna," to John Barrymore's portrayal of the part in the very splendid picturization of the Robert E. Sherwood comedy now at Loew's Palace. It seems to be the impression in some quarters that we have declared Alfred Lunt a better actor than Mr. Barrymore. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

John Barrymore.

Although we deem Mr. Lunt an admirable actor, we can not recall, from the days of Booth Tarkington's "Clarence" and "The Intimate Strangers," with Billie Burke and Glenn Hunter, to the present, anything that he has done comparable to "The Jest," "Peter Ibbetson" or "Hamlet" as performed by the youngest of the Barrymores. However, it is not impossible that Mr. Lunt at his best might be superior to John Barrymore descended somewhat from his zenith.

That, to some extent, is what I think has happened in the instant case. Mr. Lunt's Rudolph was distinctly Teutonic, as it should have been; his fiery love making was seemingly authentic and his bearing still regal, at least in implication. The Barrymore interpretation of the part is completely Anglo-Saxon; the years have slightly untrussed his impassioned wooing and only in the closing colloquies with the Herr Doktor Krug does his extraordinary facility in reading lines surpass his predecessor's.

The only convincing Germanic touch possessed by the picture—fine as it is—is supplied by Eduardo Ciannelli, who, like Henry Travers, appears in the film in the same role he created on the stage—that of Poffy, stanch adherent of the exiled prince.

Afterthoughts on the week-end show-shopping: The outraged chorus of certain West Coast commentators, aghast at the imagined obscenities of the comparatively innocuous "The Warrior's Husband," bring back to mind the mild reproof of "Honi soit qui mal y pense" . . . Will Mahoney, headlining the vaudeville bill at Loew's Fox, wins the heaviest salvo of applause accorded an act in any Washington theater since he was here last . . . Don Alfonso Zelaya, presenting a slight modification of his familiar pianologue at the Earle, reveals the perfection of a technique for which he was striving even so long ago as when he used to knock a wheezy old upright apart by way of an evening's diversion in the back room of Stonestreet's down on the Avenue in the first beer era . . . Notables in the current newsreels include President Roosevelt, Dr. Schacht, the German emissary, not the Griffith Stadium clown; Jackie Coogan, now a college head-yeller; Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, the Lindberghs and Peggy McMath, heroine of the recent kidnaping . . . Gracella and Theodore have one of the best dancing acts of the year at the Earle . . . The lobby at Loew's Fox is being readied for the annual flower show . . . The cooling systems went into operation Sunday.

The combination of cooling systems and straw hats ought to be good for a sudden snow storm, at least!

By NELSON B. BELL.

History repeats itself. Buoyed again by the enthusiastic acclaim of an amused capacity audience, the National Theater Players last night, as was the case a week ago with "Goodbye Again," scored decisively in "Hay Fever," one of Noel Coward's merriest and maddest farces.

"Hay Fever" does not make use of a great number of players, but those it does employ are called upon to discharge considerable chores, with no little stress laid upon sharp characterization, whimsical and extravagant speeches, action and stage business. These requirements the Players met with something to spare last evening.

The story is sheer lunacy. It concerns the Blisses, sequestered on the outskirts of London in a rambling country place that needs must run itself or not be run at all. Mrs. Bliss is a retired actress of the acutely emotional school, who dramatizes herself, her family and all those about her at the slightest pretext—or upon none at all. Mr. Bliss is a novelist who runs to best-seller romances; the son, Simon, a rattle-headed, embryo artist, and his sister, Sorel, an utterly spoiled young beauty, with the only honest streak in the family.

Over a rainy week-end four guests, each invited by a different member of the family unknown to all the others, pop in for a quiet little visit. By a miraculous job of mismatching, and the intervention of unexpectedly muddling circumstances, the most hopelessly mismated pairs possible become involved in a series of amazing mesalliances—mother's boy friend is hooked by daughter; father's "type" for a novel is snared by Simon; Simon's girl is papa's choice and daughter's beau finds himself disturbingly enmeshed with mother.

Out of these utterly delirious and bewildering experiences, further complicated by a supreme indifference to their guests' physical comfort on the part of the Blisses, Mr. Coward has evolved situations that are wholly farcical, completely ridiculous and insanely delightful. When Constance Collier appeared in this crazy comedy at the Belasco just a year ago, this commentator thought it a bit of priceless drollery; although played less in the typical British manner last evening, last season's impression was not appreciably altered.

The chief burden of the three acts falls upon the sturdy shoulders of Miss Leona Powers, in the role of the ex-actress who seeks to carry the glamour of the theater into the pastoral precincts of her suburban home. In this instance it is a distinct compliment to say that Miss Powers is "always acting." Her sense of travesty is practically unfailing.

In only slightly modified degree is Ona Munson's part of the daughter, Sorel, less important than Miss Powers and it is played with a surety, a vivacity and an authority that Miss Munson has not heretofore revealed as a member of the National Company, either last year or this.

Grouped closely in the wake of these two are Kathryn Givney, Romaine Callander, Forrest Orr, as the elder Bliss; Freddie Sherman, fairly matching Miss Munson in importance and capability; Donald Woods and Adelaide Hibbard. Louise Harrison Gwynn, in the not unimportant role of Jackie Coryton, down as a laboratory specimen of modern young womanhood for father's authorial examination, will increase the effectiveness of her work as assurance grows with experience. Hers was a poised and distinctly creditable first professional effort.

The National Theater Players very obviously have hit their stride.

COLUMBIA

"HELLO, SISTER." Fox picturization of the play by Dawn Powell, featuring James Dunn, "Boots" Mallory, ZaSu Pitts and Terrance Ray. Reviewed Monday evening by W. A. Whitney.

If this sort of thing keeps up much longer the name of James Dunn will be so firmly associated with the "Bad Girl" type of drama that it will take more than Mr. Ringling's ponderous pachyderms to budge it.

Even though "Hello, Sister" does follow the general trend of the Vina Delmar opus, the course of events has sufficient variation to elude being termed a carbon copy.

From the time that Peggy and Milly are picked up by Jimmy and Mac, through the development of the romance between Peggy and Jimmy—along with the traditional misunderstanding and separation in reel five—to Peggy's discovery of an imminent event and an ultimate reconciliation, the story progresses in typical Dunn fashion.

To James Dunn and Patricia Mallory belong the principal roles, in which they are ably supported by ZaSu Pitts and Minna Gombel, as her pals, and Terrance Ray, as Mr. Dunn's side kick, though far from a friend.

It should be mentioned that Miss Pitts' part here comes the closest to being "serious" that this incomparable comedienne has had.

In "Mush and Milk," Our Gang demonstrates a greater ingenuity than did Jubilo in his excruciating milking episode, by using a vacuum cleaner! The Maxello family, acrobats extraordinary, well known to Washington's vaudeville fans, are seen in "Allez Oop," a slow-and-normal motion review of their astounding feats, with Pete Smith wisecracking the various numbers. The Paramount News rounds out the bill.

GAYETY

"GIRLS IN BLUE." Jimmy Lake presents a new burlesque offering, featuring Charlie LaVine, Bimbo Davis, Joe Yule, Lee Hickman, Joy St. Clair, Darling Lucky and Ann Corio, guest star. Reviewed by George H. Barrows.

Walking down the runway and into the aisle, Ann Corio, billed as the "Goddess of Beauty," is delighting audiences at the Gayety this week by stroking a few bald heads, or twirling sparse hairs into tiny "Kewpie" topnotches, and do the aisle seats love it! Incidentally, the charming Ann is as beautiful off-stage as on.

Darling Lucky with her sensational toe dances, and Joy St. Clair, Evelyn Brooks, Lurisse Fox and Nora Murray in interesting specialty numbers, provide pleasing interludes to liberal chorus numbers, that show tremendous improvement from the run-of-the-mine dance routines, in a show that for some undiscovered reason bears the title of "Girls in Blue."

Charley LaVine again displays his marked ability as a character actor in a new interpretation of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, which is immediately burlesqued in a very clever manner by Joe Yule. Lee Hickman as the "stage carpenter," and with the able "straight" support of Bob Sandberg, has the audience with him—in the aisles!

Bimbo Davis, adorned in a suit of red flannels, delights the audience in a girl's dormitory scene, but throughout the rest of the production plays a passive part.

GLEN ECHO PARK

All roads lead to Glen Echo Park these days, and the second week of the new season finds the crowds heading for the great Maryland resort in increasing numbers. Over the week-end, especially, the park reaches its height of popularity.

They came, saw and were very much impressed, indeed, with the new Spanish ballroom, where MacWilliams and his enlarged orchestra are performing so brilliantly every evening in the week from 8:30 until 11:30, except Sunday.

Other attractions much in favor include the old mill, which has a new electrically-operated scenic device to offer; the dodgem rides, sporting new lighting effects and a new front, and the thrilling coaster dips, completely modernized.

The swiftly operated airplane swings, carrousel and midway all maintain their popularity.

SEE THE Gas REFRIGERATOR BEFORE YOU BUY

ALL WASHINGTON IS TALKING about the New AIR-COOLED Gas REFRIGERATOR

Naturally those who contemplate buying an automatic refrigerator this year EXPECT MORE! The women of America have had a chance to tell the refrigeration industry what they would expect in the finest refrigerator in the world. Scientific research has had a chance to supply it!

You have a right to expect more, and you get more in Electrolux, the new air-cooled gas refrigerator. You get complete and permanent silence, because the gas refrigerator has no machinery or moving parts to make noise. You get more economy, because the gas refrigerator costs less to operate than any other automatic refrigerator. And you get exclusive features such as the new trigger release, which simplifies removal of ice cube trays, the new two-temperature chilling unit which insures more constant, even cold.

All Washington—and the rest of the country—is talking about this new refrigerator . . . and no wonder! Despite all these advantages, it costs less to buy than before!

Visit our showrooms today! Or telephone, by all means, for more information, before you decide to buy!

NATS AND INDIANS OPEN FIRST-PLACE FIGHT TODAY

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

WASHINGTON'S ball team is no longer synonymous with well-pitched, tight-defensive ball games. Time was when the Nats could nurse a one-run or two-run lead and wind up on the front end of a close score, but if those days aren't gone forever, they are at least rare.

Sock is the keynote of the Nats this season. With the regular infield intact, the club can still present as impregnable a fielding quartet as any in the league, but the old speed in the outfield is missing, and at present the pitching staff is comprised chiefly of Walter Stewart and Earl Whitehill, with Bill McAfee the only relief man who brings relief.

The Nats gave away defensive strength to get the punch at the plate, and despite Goose Goslin's lethargic start with the bat, the team presents a batting front that can meet the slugging clubs of the league at their own game with a fair chance of winning, if it simmers down to a slugfest.

1933 Nats Can Slug With Rivals.

The Nats' tour through the West was an enlightening commentary on the new make-up of the club. At Chicago they won a 9-8 and an 11-9 game and lost a 10-8 battle; at St. Louis they won by 10-8 and 7-5, and lost by 5-0 and 4-3; at Detroit they lost by 10-9 and won by 6-1 and 6-2. Their lone effort in Cleveland was a 6-5 defeat.

Washington ball teams of yore were rarely close when the opposition made 8, 9 and 10 runs, but this season the club is dishing it out in a large way. And it is fortunate that they are, for the pitching they used to receive is now a rarity and they've got to win their ball games with power at the plate.

If their pitching effectiveness returns, the Nats will be a menace. Schulte and Kuhel are giving the middle end of the batting order a punch that the Nats never possessed before in that sector of the line-up. The season is still in its infancy, but the signs of power on the Nats are unmistakable. The Nats are prepared to slug it out all summer, if necessary, and it may be.

Left-Field Stands Within Boken's Reach.

Washington fans will get another peep at Bob Boken, the lad who set tongues wagging throughout the league by his sensational hitting in the West. In the event that either Ossie Bluege or Buddy Myer remain incapacitated longer than Boken, the Kansas City boy will be assigned an infield post.

Those left-field bleachers in Griffith Stadium are a fair target for Boken. The home run that he

Shorey, Barnett and Cunningham Tie in Tests Here.

Beach, Hyatt Others to Place; Houghton Outside Fold.

By DAVE HERMAN.

THREE Washington professionals, one pro from Baltimore and another from North Carolina, will represent the middle Atlantic sector in the national open golf championship at the North Shore Golf Club, near Chicago, June 8, 9, 10 by virtue of their brilliant scoring in the 36-hole divisional trials held yesterday over the grueling Manor course in Norbeck, Md.

So keen was the struggle for top honors that before the firing had ceased late in the afternoon four of the qualifiers, Mel Shorey, steady shooting East Potomac pro; Bob Barnett, of Chevy Chase; Gilbert Cunningham, of Burning Tree, and Ralph Beach, of Suburban, found themselves enmeshed in a deadlock for the medal prize with cards of 144 each.

The fifth to land the final place allotted this section by the U. S. G. A. was Freddie Hyatt, strong-armed veteran sharpshooter from the Charlotte Country Club, of North Carolina, who rallied in the afternoon for an even par round of 71 after using up 76 strokes in the morning.

Thirty-six pros and one amateur competed.

Houghton and Picard Disappoint.

With par proving invulnerable, and being matched only by five in the field—each of the qualifiers—the day saw its disappointments. The most startling upset was the failure of Al Houghton, of Kenwood, to make the grade, while almost equally as disappointing was the downfall of Henry Picard, sturdy young Charleston, S. C., pro, who, with Houghton, had been regarded as the two chief pretourney favorites.

Houghton, chief money winner in this section in 1932, who missed being an automatic qualifier for this season's open by the slim margin of one stroke, lost his putting touch on the first eighteen, and had to stage a game comeback in the afternoon for a 73 to wind up with a 150 total and tie for seventh with Cliff Spencer, of Beaver Dam, and Gene Larkin, of Chevy Chase. Houghton, however, amazed spectators by finishing the last three holes of the afternoon's first nine in 3—2—4—three sizzling birdies in a row.

Picard, hailed as the South's new professional sensation, three-putted nine greens during the 36-hole route, and blasted himself out of the picture by taking a 40 on the third nine. A powerful iron player, the young South Carolinian used a No. 1 iron off the tee on eight of the nine holes on the wooded side during the morning's jaunt. He finished with 74—77—151.

Ralph Beach, the last to come in, had the gallery gasping on the thirty-sixth hole. He had already birdied the sixteenth in 3 and the seventeenth in 2 and needed only a 4 for a 70 and the medal honors. Beach slapped out a beautiful drive, but smacked his second over the green in heavy grass, barely niblicked on the green, and his try for birdie, the lead and a new course record from 20 feet was 2 feet short.

Starting out like a house afire on the second lap, Shorey rattled in an eagle three on the 470-yard first, thanks to a long drive, a perfect number two iron second, and a 12-foot putt. Before going to the turn, Shorey had birdied the fourth and the ninth, and was out in 34. A 6 on the fourteenth, where he hooked his spoon into the rough, and inaccurate putting on the seventeenth and eighteenth resulted in a 39 on the stretch, giving him 71-73.

PIRATES WIN AND REGAIN 1ST PLACE

Triple by Lindstrom With Bases Loaded Beats Phils, 5-4.

PITTSBURGH, May 15 (A.P.).—Freddy Lindstrom's triple with the bases loaded was the spark-plug of an 11-hit attack that sent the Pittsburgh Pirates bounding back into first place in the National League with a 5-to-4 victory over the Phillies today. The triumph gave the Pirates a half-game advantage over the Giants, who were idle.

Lindstrom came through with what proved to be a very important hit in the second inning after the successive singles by Vaughan, Piet and Padden had scored the Pirate shortstop. With two out, Lloyd Waner drove out a one-bagger, leaving the bases loaded for Lindstrom's triple, which hit the right-field wall.

An error by Virgil Davis, after Traynor had singled, paved the way for the Pirates other run in the fourth inning. That was all the Corsairs got off Jim Elliott and Collins, who succeeded him in the seventh, but it was all they needed with Meine pitching good ball.

The Phillies, who got away to a two-run lead in the first two innings, scored twice in the ninth inning and had the tying and winning runs on base, but Meine forced Chuck Klein to pop to Piet for the third out.

Bush returned here last week from Brooklyn and was immediately ordered to bed. He was taken ill a week ago in Philadelphia.

Dr. Cunningham described Bush as being "pretty sick" although he said he did not consider his condition as dangerous.

SHIELDS AND VINES PLAY ABROAD

U. S. L. T. A. Enters Stars in Wimbledon Tennis.

NEW YORK, May 15 (A.P.).—The United States Lawn Tennis Association today announced it had officially entered Ellsworth Vines, jr., Keith Gledhill and Frank Shields in the all-England tennis championships at Wimbledon, beginning June 25.

Shields also has been entered in the French championships at Auteuil, beginning May 21 and already is en route to France on the liner Europa.

The U. S. L. T. A. said it had hoped to send David N. Jones, American student at Oxford, to team with Shields in the French title play, but that Jones had advised examinations would prevent his playing there. He probably will enter the Wimbledon tournament.

U. S. Women to Play.

In addition to the official entries of the men, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, Helen Jacobs and perhaps Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Burke also will play in the women's events at Wimbledon, and Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Burke will compete in the French title event.

Six Wimbledon and United States titles are held among four of the seven players. Vines is both United States and Wimbledon title holder and also shares the U. S. doubles title with Gledhill. Mrs. Moody holds the Wimbledon singles title and Miss Jacobs holds the United States singles title and shares the doubles championship with Sarah Palfrey.

10,000 at Wheeling Watch Yanks Win

Wheeling, W. Va., May 15 (A.P.).—The Dickey brothers, both catchers, met up in an exhibition game today, and although Bill and his New York Yankee teammates were victorious, 7 to 2, George, of the Wheeling Stogies, stole the show.

More than 10,000 fans turned out—to see Babe Ruth knock a homer, and saw 17-year-old George hit the only circuit drive of the day. The Babe's best was a pair of doubles. Wheeling, a Yankee "farm" in the Midatlantic League, executed a triple play in the fifth inning.

Three persons suffered minor injuries as part of the bleachers crumbled. Rain halted the game in the eighth.

New York, May 15 (A.P.).—A jury today awarded Gladys Buszyk, a music teacher, of Winnipeg, Canada, $18,000 in her suit for $25,000 for breach of promise against Stanislaus Zbyszko, wrestler.

Lewis Takes Bout From Savoldi

Conqueror of Londos Misses Kick, Goes Through Ropes.

Former Grid Star Is Counted Out After 44 Minutes.

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 15 (U.P.).—Ed Strangler Lewis, former world champion, defeated Jumping Joe Savoldi in a heavyweight wrestling match tonight when Savoldi was unable to return to the ring after missing a flying drop kick.

Savoldi appeared to 10,000 fans at Madison Square Garden to have been leading his veteran opponent just before the bout ended. While Lewis, 240-pound Californian, applied several telling head locks, Savoldi, former Notre Dame all-America fullback, weighing 202, was at least an even match for the veteran.

After 40 minutes of wrestling Savoldi repeatedly bowled over Lewis with flying tackles, and twice he staged his "flying drop kick," leaping into the air and kicking Lewis in the chest.

He tried a third drop kick and Lewis stepped aside. Savoldi went through the ropes. Referee Arthur Donovan counted him out. The time was 44:32.

Ed Browning threw "Strangler" Lewis in two bouts, gaining recognition as world champion in New York State, which refused to recognize Jim Londos' claim to the title. Outside of the Empire State, however, Browning's claims are not recognized, whereas those of Londos are. Recently, Joe Savoldi threw Londos in a bout at Chicago, which was protested.

Red Sox Purchase Cooke, Ex-Yank

Boston, May 15 (A.P.).—Eddie Collins, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, turned another surprise deal today as he reduced his roster to the prescribed 23-player limit. He purchased Allen "Dusty" Cooke, sensational International League outfielder, from the Newark Bears for an unannounced amount of cash and Outfielder Johnny Watwood and Infielder Marvin Olson.

Then, having a player over the American League's May 15 quota, Collins released Outfielder George Stumpf on option to Bob Quinn's Reading club in the New York-Pennsylvania circuit.

Cooke was sent to Newark by the New York Yankees and has been playing left field in brilliant style for the Bears and hitting the ball hard.

Mack Rookie Beats Tribe By 1 to 0

Cain Allows 8 Hits, But Is Effective in Pinches.

Also Gets Two of A's Four Bingles Off Willis Hudlin.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15 (A.P.).—Merritt "Sugar" Cain, rookie right-handed pitcher, was stingy with hits with men on the bases today and the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Cleveland Indians, 1 to 0, in the league leaders' one-day stand at Shibe Park.

The Athletics got only four hits off Willis Hudlin as compared to the Indians' eight blows off Cain, but the Mackmen bunched two of their hits, one a single by Cain, with a base on balls in the fifth inning to score the only run of the game.

Cain, who got two of the A's hits, singled with one out. A walk to Bishop moved the pitcher to second, from where he scored on Roger Cramer's sharp single through shortstop.

Twice the Tribe threatened, but each time Cain pitched out of the hole. In the fifth the Indians had men on first and third with none out and again in the sixth players were perched on first and second with none retired.

Although defeated, the Indians retained the lead by a half-game over the Yankees, who were idle.

Gleneagles, Scotland, May 15 (U.P.).—America's single-handed quest of the British women's golf championship ended in the first round today when Barbara Daniell, of Berkshire eliminated Bea Gottlieb, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., 5 and 4. Miss Gottlieb was off to a bad start, scoring a 7 on the easy four-par first hole, just as she did in the first qualifying round.

Leaves Nats

ED LINKE.

LINKE IS SENT TO 'NOOGA ON OPTION

Expected to Return as Soon as Nats Heal Hurts.

ED LINKE, baby-faced member of the Nats' pitching staff, yesterday fell a victim to the 23-player limit rule in the American League and was released to Chattanooga under 24-hour option of recall.

The coming to the Nats of Cecil Travis, Chattanooga third baseman, meant the going of Linke when Manager Cronin was forced to conform with the player-limit rule, but Linke's release is merely a part of a seasoning process for the youthful pitcher, whose Mississippi Valley League strikeout ball won him much favorable comment at Biloxi and with the Nats in the early games.

Linke made a startling start in the big leagues by holding the Boston Red Sox to four hits three weeks ago and a place for him on the Nats' staff seemed assured until wholesale injuries struck the Nats' infield and necessitated the recall of Travis as a stop-gap, thus putting the roster 1 over the limit of 23.

His Early Return Is Foreseen.

An early return of Linke to the Nats is foreseen as soon as the club's infield situation adjusts itself, and Myer, Bluge and Boken return to the line-up. Travis was unable to dislodge Boken from a reserve role with the Nats at Bolixi, and, in view of Boken's sensational play in the West, his task now is even more difficult.

With Linke departing, the Nats' pitching staff is reduced to eight, one below the number Manager Cronin plans to carry, and to make room for Linke as the ninth pitcher when he

Travis, Recalled, Is Likely to Play Third Base.

Kerr Seen Continuing at Second Until Myer Returns.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

THE road-weary and travel-stained Nats are back on their home lot today to perform for local consumption in a 20-game stand that finds the Western clubs swinging East for a renewal of the battling that has tightened the American League race into a five-team free-for-all.

First to test the Nats at home will be the rampaging Cleveland Indians, lately boasting double tomahawking of the Athletics that catapulted them into the league lead. They open a three-game series with the Nats this afternoon, occupying the unique role of league leaders and reminding us that it has been a matter of five years or more since a Western club came East with the league lead dangling from its belt.

The Nats came back from the West with a tolerable record of six wins in eleven games, the last two being played under extenuating circumstances, such as Dave Harris at third base, but this situation has already been remedied by the recall of Cecil Travis from Chattanooga, where he has been smiting the ball for a healthy .400 percentage.

Stewart to Take Slab Today.

Walter Stewart, who lost his last start in St. Louis when he fed a couple of home run balls to Oscar Melillo and Ted Gullic, goes back to the mound today and thus the Nats will present their best pitching front, for Stewart has rounded into superb form and at his best he is the answer to any manager's prayer.

The Nats also are destined to get a look at some fair pitching. Mel Harder, who beat them in the lone Cleveland game by settling down into invincibility after a rough start, is their probable opponent this afternoon, and for the remaining games of the series Manager Peckinpaugh has no less than Wes Ferrell, Clint Brown and Oral Hildebrand at his command, the last-named topping all pitchers with his 5 victories and no defeats, including two games of four-hit pro-

SARDANEZA WINS IN STEEPLECHASE FEATURE AT PIMLICO

Hieaway Second and Muskogee Third Over Jumps.

George Jessel Falls; Bailiff in Victory Over Juveniles.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, May 15.—This course went back to a jumping race for its feature today after all the Preakness thrills. It was the Princeton Steeplechase and the winner turned up in T. H. McCreery's Sardaneza, which hopped to victory over a field of eight. The winner was capably ridden by Eddie Ball over the 2-mile course.

Sardaneza, which has been doing a lot of running and jumping hereabouts without getting anywhere in particular, ran a brilliant race to defeat, among others, the second-place Hieaway, from the J. P. Jones barn. The McCreery color-bearer had a margin of two lengths at the finish. Third money was garnered by J. Bosley's Muskogee, which traveled home ahead of Abdul II, the early pace setter. Positive Proof was the only other entrant to complete the journey.

George Jessel
Tumbles

Three casualties took place and the first to suffer was Lenox Avenue, who lost his rider at the tenth fence. George Jessel, who came up a strongly supported choice, came to grief by spilling himself at the last fence when making a strong charge, and he was followed by Dock Light, who took a cropper at the same fence.

S. W. Labrot's stable added another success to their winning list when The Bailiff scored a front-running victory over six other juveniles that contested the 4½ furlongs of the opening number. A claim of foul was made against the winner by Jockey J. Smith, who rode Inspection into third position, and the stewards deliberated several minutes before they decided that R. Jones on the winner was not responsible for interference when his mount bore out badly at the stretch turn and impeded Inspection. Chatterdoo, a regular winner at the meeting, landed in place hole, Mathias pressed Inspection hard for the show position.

Paying $20.80, Soupcon scored in a romp over Mecat in the second event. Ridden by the unfashionable V. Wisner, Soupcon wore Mecat down after the first half mile, and then drew out to score by ten lengths. Mecat lasted to save second, while Bright Day, sold in the "field," earned third.

Gramarye Scores in Third.

A double was recorded for the S. W. Labrot Stable when Gramarye, ridden by H. Dabson, came from behind to register over nine other maiden opponents at a mile and 70 yards. Help Me, installed a lukewarm choice for the test, landed in second position after showing the way until the final furlong, while third fell to Broadway Sun, who raced along in the thick of contention for the entire journey. This was the second event of the day and the number was exclusively fashioned for 3-year-olds.

Two-dollar mutles paid—THE BAILIFF, $11.20, $5.60, $3.20; CHATTERDOO, $5.00, $3.40; INSPECTION, $2.60.

THE BAILIFF, hard ridden to gain a brief lead, carried INSPECTION out when entering the home stretch, knocked the latter off her stride and was then placed to severe punishment to draw out steadily nearing the end. A claim of foul was made by J. Smith, which was entertained, but not allowed. CHATTERDOO improved his position while saving all possible ground and came willingly at the end. INSPECTION drew on even terms with the winner when straightened into the home stretch, but met with interference after being carried extremely wide. MATHIAS raced on the inside of the winner early, but was not good enough in the final drive. BILLIE'S TRYST was outrun. SILVER ARCH ran out leaving the back stretch and carried SPANISH SLIPPER out with him.

SECOND RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $800; claiming. For maiden 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:36. Off at 2:39½. Winner, S. W. Labrot's gr. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GRAMARYE, $10.60, $4.60, $3.60; HELP ME, $3.40, $3.40; BROADWAY SUN, $17.30.

GRAMARYE, kept within striking distance of the leaders and finding clear passage on the outside, gained stoutly to enter contention and, coming around the pacemakers, wore HELP ME down inside the final furlong. HELP ME, well handled and rated in front, shook off repeated attempts from BROADWAY SUN, but weakened suddenly after moving clear at the stretch turn. BROADWAY SUN, a stout factor after the initial furlong, faltered when straightened into the home stretch. BISNEUR, lacking early speed, was unable to engage the leaders at any stage. RUNNING PLAY was taken wide on the way and was held safe. GOOD SENSE raced well. DUNORA, SCOTCH SOLDIER and MR. SWIFT tired.

THIRD RACE—Two miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. The Princeton Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:06. Off at 3:07½. Winner, T. H. SARDENEZA, restrained for the first mile and one-half, reached the pacemakers going to the next to last fence and, moving clear approaching the final jump, was steadied and held HIEAWAY safe. Latter entered contention rapidly when called on, responded to punishment and closed courageously, although H. Little could not do him justice when he lost his stirrup irons. MUSKOGEE raced ABDUL II into submission after repeated bids, but weakened during the final half mile. ABDUL II recovered slowly after taking his fences and was forced to withstand stout contention. He stopped in the last five furlongs. PROOF POSITIVE was outrun. GEORGE JESSEL, under intermittent punishment during the running, was rushed to the last fence and fell while racing close up. DOCK LIGHT showed a good effort until he fell at the final fence. LENNOX AVENUE lost rider at the last jump.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:41. Off at 3:43½. Winner, C. Carver's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SOUPCON, $20.80, $10.40, $7.20; MECAT, $4.00, $3.60; BRIGHT DAY (field), $5.80.

SOUPCON, kept close up, sprinted into an easy lead when entering the home stretch and then drew out without effort approaching the finish. MECAT, hustled into the lead and saving ground, tired fast after being overtaken. BRIGHT DAY worked her way up on the outside and finished gamely. CORDOBA, well placed, began tiring in the final three-sixteenths mile. SHAVINGS was unable to threaten at any stage. The others were never factors.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:21. Winner, D. Christmas' ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ACCOLADE, $12.80, $5.80, $4.00; ALLANAH, $4.20, $3.00; BENISH WAY, $3.40.

ACCOLADE, a strong factor and saving much ground, wore the pacemakers down when nearing the final furlong pole and came away gradually. ALLANAH had a lot taken out of her racing BENISH WAY into submission and faltered during the final drive. BENISH WAY had good speed for the first five furlongs and tired fast in the closing furlong. MORDORE worked his way up on the outside and closed gamely. GRACE BLOTTER could not improve her position under stern handling. GAY PARTY was making up ground slowly at the end. STUBBLE had some early speed. The others were outrun.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SILVERDALE, $3.40, $2.80, $2.60; ROCK POINT, $3.60, $2.80; LOUGH FORT, $4.20.

SILVERDALE, having the most speed, assumed an easy lead, saved ground while racing under restraint and was taken in hand all the last furlong. ROCK POINT, kept under pressure throughout, finished gamely, but was no match for the winner. LOUGH FORT saved a lot of ground the entire trip and was held safe. ORAL was done after three furlongs. MOON SHY was never a factor. BLACK TARGET was left.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:27. Off at 5:26½. Winner, A. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MAINSHEET, $8.80, $4.00, $2.60; TUFFY G., $4.40, $3.00; GARLIC, $2.60.

MAINSHEET, kept on the inside from the start and saving a great deal of ground, responded strongly during the final drive and wore TUFFY G. down to get up in the final sixteenth mile. TUFFY G., closer up than usual, shook off the early leaders and held on gamely when challenged. GARLIC came with good speed after trailing his field. WAR TIDE was used up racing FOURTH WARD into defeat, and then finished very wide at the end. DARK VISION had no excuses. ZEMBLA was poorly handled. FOURTH WARD quit.

BIDE A WEE sprinted into a long lead, raced reserved until the last quarter mile and then had to be strongly ridden to stall off TAZEWELL. Latter, kept well placed, closed in determined fashion. BUB M'FARLAND secured racing room between his field in the last half mile and came willingly. MAKE BELIEVE showed a good effort. LIGHT BREEZE finished on the inside. RUANE could not reach contention and finished on his own courage. BILLY BUTTON stopped badly.

Jamaica Test Awaited by Head Play

Big Chestnut Arrives for Wood Feature on Saturday.

NEW YORK, May 15 (A.P.).—Head Play, Mrs. Silas B. Mason's contender for the 3-year-old turf championship, arrived at Jamaica today to fill his engagement in the $5,000 Wood Memorial. In this mile and 70 yard test Head Play will meet several of the field he easily conquered in the Preakness and at least three promising colts which have yet to match strides with the big chestnut from Kentucky.

If all goes well between now and post time next Saturday, the son of My Play will be opposed by W. R. Coe's trio of Ladysman, Pomonius and Pompoleon; H. C. Phipps' De Valera; the Wheatley Stable's Utopian, and Leo Rossenberg's Kerry Patch, all of which finished far back of Head Play in the Preakness.

Others Are Classed as Starters.

C. V. Whitney's The Darb; Mrs. Payne Whitney's Dynastic; J. E. Widener's Golden Way, outstanding 2-year-olds last year, and the Catawba Stable's Mr. Khayyam and Good Advice, trailers in the Derby, also were classed as starters.

When unloaded at the Long Island course this morning, Head Play appeared ready for another such race as he ran in the Preakness, in which he finished four lengths in front of Ladysman. Trainer Tom Hayes plans to give the Westerner his final workout between races Wednesday.

Although Head Play probably will be a prohibitive choice, the Wood, run over a shorter distance than the Derby or Preakness, may furnish a real test for Mrs. Mason's colt.

Head Play is a streak from the gate, but Ladysman, De Valera and Mr. Khayyam also like the shorter distance. Ladysman ran his best races at less than a mile last year while Mr. Khayyam set a track record in winning the 1 1-16 miles Chesapeake Stakes at Havre de Grace prior to the Derby.

Dynastic and The Darb were among the best of the juveniles of 1932, but both became ill a week before the Derby and were thrown out of training. The Darb is getting his preps for the Wood at the Whitney farm in New Jersey. Dynastic worked seven-eighths of a mile in 1:27 at Belmont Park today.

Jockey Pulls Horse; Off For Life

Stewards at Chicago Move After Dye Admits Act.

TECH RALLIES IN EIGHTH AND NOSES OUT EASTERN, 5 TO 4

Hit by Ward Provides Punch

Wheeler's Home Run Is Big Feature of Inning.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

A BRIEF but fruitful Tech rally, whipped up with the suddenness and fury of a young hurricane, produced four runs, brought the Maroon and Gray from the depths of defeat to the heights of victory and swept Eastern out of the interhigh school series yesterday. The final score was 5-4.

For seven long innings Tech trailed the home team and seemed destined to go down to defeat. Joe Sullivan, Charley Guyon's latest pitching find, had his opponents popping up, rolling weakly to the infield and waving with their bats to friends in the distant reaches of the ball park, but Tech was not to be denied.

Sullivan opened the eighth by coaxing a walk. Waverly Wheeler followed with a lusty blow that propelled the ball far up in the left field stands for a home run, tying the score at 3 to 3.

Knocky Thomas followed with a double, and, after Nau grounded out, Virnstein walked. The stage was all set for the game-winning hit, and, a moment later, it collided with the big bat of Eddie Ward.

Sullivan fanned the next two batters but the damage had been done.

It was a tough game for the Eastern hurler to lose. He pitched in masterful fashion despite the fact that Tech solved his delivery for ten hits. None were bunched closely enough to produce runs. Sullivan fanned 10.

But it would have been just as tough for Eddie Turner, Tech's hurler, to lose. Turner also granted 10 hits, but like Sullivan, managed to keep them pretty well scattered.

Eastern Breaks Ice in Second.

Joe Mills scored the first Eastern run of the game in the second inning on a long hit to left field that went for a home run. To this the Blue added single runs in the fifth and sixth innings. Again in the ninth Eastern threatened to rise up and wipe out its opponents advantage, but the rally fell one run short of tying the score.

Guyon used everybody but the janitor in the final frame and almost succeeded in his purpose. Charley Cuozzo, batting for Joe Mills, opened with a single. Jack Smith, another pinch-hitter, in for Carl Mills, popped up; but Barnes, batting for Fitzgerald, came through with a Texas Leaguer to right, scoring Cuozzo.

Fred Miller ran for Barnes who had gone to second on the throw in. This put the issue squarely up to Eddie Fitzpatrick, but Turner went to work on the Eastern captain and struck him out.

Roosevelt tangles with Western today and Tech will play Central Friday in the game that virtually will decide the championship.

Capital City Franchises To 14 Teams in 3 Classes

FOURTEEN teams were granted franchises in three divisions of the Capital City League last night at a meeting held in Room 313 of the District Building. The midget division, with seven teams, topped the list. Five junior teams were received into the league and two senior.

This number will be augmented by clubs recruited on and representing the various playgrounds which will play their games during the week on the Monument Grounds. President Richard S. Tennyson announced that 16 unlimited teams, 20 juniors, a like number of midget clubs, and 24 insect combinations were entered in the week-day division.

Games in the week-day division will be scheduled on Sundays when the teams begin their play-off for the various championships. Tennyson has not determined whether they will be pitted against the teams playing regularly on Sunday in a Metropolitan series.

Three days of grace for all teams were declared last night, at the expiration of which all players' contracts must be filed with Secretary Bernard A. McCarthy at the Playground Department office.

The following teams were represented at last night's meeting: Midget—Corbett A. C., Montrose A. C., Eastern A. C., Versis Midgets, Potomac Fish Market, Washington Maid and Savoy Theater; Junior-Dixie Products, Oton Hill, Clarendon A. C., Goodacre's and Georgetown A. C.; senior, Auth's and Mount Rainier.

A schedule covering the remaining games in the unlimited division is in the process of being printed and will be distributed to the various club managers when finished. Meantime the list of games for next Sunday will be printed in The Post the latter part of the week.

CHATTANOOGA GETS ED LINKE ON OPTION

Following his Boston success, Linke started one in St. Louis, fell a victim to wildness, and saw relief service in a game at Chicago.

It may be significant that Linke, who is now a slip of a lad when he is in condition, gained 12 pounds during his inactivity in the West, and is still going up. But regular work at Chattanooga is expected to do him a deal of good.

THIS MORNING:

hit in Detroit would have landed far up in the Washington stands, and the two that he clouted in St. Louis would also have dropped into the Griffith Stadium bleachers.

Boken, built on the lines of a yard stick, does not trifle up there at the plate. He swings at few bad balls and he doesn't swing for the bleachers all the time. The presence of Cecil Travis with the Nats is not calculated to oust Boken as chief of the Nats' secondary infield forces.

Travis' Recall No Worry to Harris.

Least disturbed by the recall of Travis from Chattanooga is Dave Harris, the Nats' third baseman pro tem, who gets the job when Bluege, Boken and Kerr are otherwise occupied or unavailable.

"It don't make no difference to me," said Dave. "I'll play wherever they tell me to play, whether its third base, first base or the outfield. They know what I can do and they know the pitcher's in a hole when I'm up there at the bat. That's what counts."

Columbia Club Drops Invitation Tournament

The board of governors of the Columbia Country Club, meeting last night, decided that it will not stage the invitation tournament that had been scheduled for June 6, 7, 8, and 9.

George B. James, Columbia golf chairman, in making the announcement, stated that the club regretted taking such action, but decided it would be best to call off the tournament this season, and plan for one next year.

itself. He had two deuces in the morning, a 35—36 for the first 18 and 37—36 in the afternoon.

Hyatt became torrid in the afternoon, was one under fours for the first nine, and one over fours on the last nine. He was planting his approaches dead to their objective and was putting brilliantly. Hyatt and Beach were the only two to match par on the last 18.

Beach, Barnett and Shorey have qualified a number of times for open championship, while Hyatt and Cunningham were making the grade for the initial time.

Jenkins' Hit Decides For Gichner's Nine

Bill Jenkins may not be able to run as fast as he did several years ago, but he still has a keen eye for hits. Yesterday he cleaned the sacks with a hefty two-bagger in the last inning of the Industrial League game between Gichner's Iron Works and Fairfax Farms, which the former won by a score of 8-2. It was Bill's second appearance as a pinch-hitter this season and he has delivered in each instance.

Georgetown Church Opener to Eldbrooke

Coming from behind with a three-run rally in the last inning, Eldbrooke M. E. defeated Mount Vernon M. E. by a score of 4-2 in the opening game of the Georgetown Church League played yesterday on the North Ellipse. Mount Vernon won the championship last year with Eldbrooke runner-up.

Fuchs, Duvall and Bogley led the assault on Monroe that produced the winning markers. Mount Vernon went into the lead the first inning when Firth scored Burgess with a single.

Gulli and Moore Take Bowling Match Lead

Lorraine Gulli and Freddy Moore finished the first block of their mixed doubles match with Marie Whalen and Ed Blakeney with a 5-pin advantage at Columbia last night, thanks to Mr. Moore. The final tabulation revealed the score to be 1,140 to 1,135.

Moore spared in his final box, while the best Blakeney could count was nine pins. The score was deadlocked when they stepped to the foul line for their final fling at the set-up.

Chevy Chase Qualifying On Today

307 Will Make Bids; Match Play Will Begin Thursday.

AMATEUR golfers from every club in the District and a goodly number from various out-of-town clubs will begin qualifying this morning in the eighteen-hole medal round of the twenty-third annual Chevy Chase invitation.

With 307 entered, only half of the field will participate in the qualifying play today, with the remaining half competing tomorrow. Following the medal competition, the golfers will be bracketed in four flights for match play Thursday and Friday.

Among those entered are W. D. Pondren, of Augusta Country Club, medalist in the recent Manor invitation, and Dick Wilson, former Georgetown star.

There will be no champion defending his crown this year, and a wide-open affair is expected. Harry Pitt, of Manor, is regarded as a decided favorite, a favoritism that was enhanced by his powerful exhibition in winning the Manor invitation last week. Pitt won the Chevy Chase championship in 1928, 1929 and 1930. The Manor star does not play until 1:05 tomorrow, when his partner will be Maurice Nee.

J. Monro Hunter, jr., whose father is pro at the Army and Navy Country Club, is a contestant and is paired with Earl McAleer at 1:10 tomorrow. Hunter bowed in the finals last year to Roland MacKenzie, 3 and 2.

A number of the local stars took advantage of the practice rounds yesterday and toured the gently rolling course, which has a par of 35 out and 34 in. Chevy Chase is well-trapped, and a golfer must clout his shots accurately if he hopes to score with any degree of success.

G. U. Prep Net Team Defeats Friends, 3 to 2

Friends School netmen bowed to Georgetown Prep by a score of 3-2, in a well-played match yesterday at Garrett Park. It was the Little Hoyas' third consecutive Prep School League victory.

Leslie (G.) defeated Clark, 6—1, 6—2; Eagan (G.) defeated Hayes, 6—2, 6—2; Eakin (F.) defeated Mayock, 7—5, 6—1; Leslie and Eagan (G.) defeated Clark and Eakin, 6—4, 7—5; Hayes and Osborne (F.) defeated Mayock and Flanaghan, 6—4, 6—2.

300 in "C" Club's Meet on Saturday

More than 300 athletes, representing 23 schools, have submitted entry blanks for the annual "C" Club track meet to be held Saturday at Wilson Stadium, Gene Casey, chairman of the committee in charge of the event, announced last night. It is believed that Mercersburg Academy will send a team for the games.

Six schools already have entered teams in the 1-mile relay, one of the features of the meet, and it is possible that Mercersburg will enter a quartet. Tech, Eastern, John Marshall, Episcopal, Woodberry Forest and Mount Rainier will be represented. The winning team will receive the Gene Casey Trophy and gold medals will be bestowed on the individual members.

BLUE eyes are not blue in pigmentation, they are blue for the same reason the sky is blue—white light diffused and reflected has the appearance of blue because short light rays (i. e. blue) scatter more readily than longer waves. Persons who have brown eyes, for example, have a brownish pigment protecting the retina. This is lacking in cases where the eyes are blue.

Without swallowing a drop, Marius Bianne, of Guasti, Calif., can tell with uncanny accuracy the alcoholic content of a wine. He is an expert wine taster in Guasti, where one of the largest vineyards in the world is located. Bianne takes a small amount of wine in his mouth, and, from its taste alone, can tell the vintage, variety and alcoholic content of the sample. So that the taste will not be altered in the slightest, Bianne tastes his wine from a silver cup.

Old newspapers were put to a strange use by Mr. Stenman when he decided to build a cottage in Pigeon Cove, Mass. He used newspapers for lumber. Rolled tightly, glued and waterproofed paper makes a unique, though serviceable, building material.

The house is furnished with furniture made from old newspapers, one of the most interesting pieces being a desk made from newspapers in which are accounts of Col. Lindbergh's famous flights.

DONALDSON ON TRIAL AS BROTHER'S KILLER

Drunken Rage Blamed for Slaying of Boy and Girl at Same Time.

Accused of first degree murder of his brother last January, Charles Donaldson, 52-year-old former engineer at Police Headquarters, went on trial for his life yesterday in District Supreme Court.

Although he is charged only with the murder of his brother, Silas Donaldson, during a drunken rage in their home, 928 Maryland avenue southwest, January 5, the accused man is alleged to have shot to death his niece and nephew, Mary and George Donaldson, 15 and 18 years old, respectively.

Apparently crazed with drink, Donaldson is alleged to have run amuck in the house and pumped a hail of lead into the bodies of his family.

It was charged that he first shot and killed George, who attempted to prevent his uncle from entering Mary's room while she slept. After shooting his nephew, Donaldson is alleged to have fired point blank at Mary lying on a bed. George was instantly killed and Mary died a few hours later.

Roused by the shots, the childrens' father rushed to the second floor, where he met his brother, smoking gun in hand, standing in a bedroom doorway.

In self-defense the father whipped out a small pocket knife. The two men grappled and finally Silas dropped with a bullet through the head. Neighbors summoned police, who arrested Charles Donaldson as he calmly stood in his room.

Selection of a jury consumed yesterday's court session.

Police Seek Man Freed From Jail by Mistake

Released from the District Jail through an error, William Jones, alias William James, 23, said to live at 419 New York avenue northwest, was again being sought by police last night.

Police said Jones was under indictment for the larceny of clothing valued at $800, taken from a tailor shop at 435 R street northwest, several weeks ago.

Democratic Group Selects Officers

ARCHBISHOP LAUDS CATHOLIC CHARITIES

Aid to 2,454 Families Is Reported at Annual Conference.

Declaring that "I measure the faith of any parish by its degree of devotion to the work of charity," the most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore, last night paid high tribute to the accomplishments of the Catholic Charities in Washington.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the association last night at the headquarters, 601 E street northwest, the Rev. Curley said "the very life of the faith in charity and real charity is built on one's love of one's fellow man."

He praised the work of the St. Vincent de Paul Society and the Ladies of Charity, following their annual report.

Introduced by Dr. Henry J. Crosson, president of Catholic Charities, the Rev. Laurence J. Shehan, assistant director, reported that 2,454 families were given aid through the year at a total cost of $68,535, an average of $61.69 per family. This was exclusive of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, which also cared for several thousand families.

The children's department reported that it cared for 731 children, 47 being placed in foster homes and 45 in institution at a total cost of $13,403.95. The juvenile protective department cared for 356 delinquent and pre-delinquent children.

Speaking on the past activities of the institution, the Rev. Dr. John O'Grady, director of the charities, declared a new spirit of charity is arising out of the depression. "There is scarcely any family that has not experienced losses during this period and out of this experience has grown a new willingness to share with others."

SIX LAUGHING BIRDS ARE PLACED IN ZOO

Australian Additions Having Sense of Humor Expected to Draw Crowds.

It was probably very funny, but a tired photographer and reporter just couldn't see anything humorous in tramping around seemingly endless trails at the Zoo on a hot afternoon.

And to top it all off, they had to stand and get laughed at by Dr. William M. Mann's newest additions—six "laughing jackasses," or kingfishers, a small bird species brought all the way from Australia just to pass a couple of newspapermen sent to get their pictures.

They wouldn't crack a smile when the photographer said to "look pleasant"—they laughed right in his face. The tiny birds, highly prized in their native land, were sent to Dr. Mann, director of the Zoo, in an exchange with the South Australian Zoological and Acclimatization Gardens in Adelaide.

Although they wouldn't say, it was decided they must be laughing at something they heard on the way over here. It seems they had the company of three Bennett Wallobys, a small type of kangaroo named for the English naturalist; two plumed ground doves; two bare-eyed partridge pigeons; two bronze wing pigeons and four peaceful doves * * * a gang like that ought to find something to laugh at.

Dr. Mann pointed out that the new shipment is of special interest to bird lovers. The laughing jackasses, although plentiful in Australia, are watched carefully and can not be captured without a special permit from the Government.

Citizens of their native land make pets of the jackasses and they are thought of so highly that their faces grace the country's 6-penny stamp.

Dr. Mann expects them to make a fine drawing card for his bird house.

And even if you are tired when you reach the cage, its a bet that you can't help but join the laughter—even if there isn't anything funny.

Larger Signs Decreed For Meter Taxicabs

Larger and more distinct signs on taxicabs operating with meters will be required under an order adopted by the Public Utilities Commission yesterday upon a suggestion by People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech, who said that many patrons are being tricked into using meter cabs when they intend to use flat-rate cabs.

The new letters are to be 2 inches high and about 16 inches wide and are to be on metal strips to be attached to both rear doors.

Visitor Robbed at Point of Gun Soon After He Cashes Check.

Less than 10 minutes after he cashed a $50 check in the Ambassador Hotel last night, Edward P. Johnson was forced to surrender all save a dollar of the newly-obtained cash at the point of a pistol.

Pocketing the money, Johnson walked from the hotel, where he is registered from Philadelphia. He turned into an alley and started toward a parking lot in the rear to see if there was a space to store his automobile for the night.

Johnson said he had hardly taken a dozen steps when he was approached by two colored men. One of them, he told police, stepped to his side and produced a gun. He was forced to a dark corner of the alley, he declared, and on threat of violence was made to hand over his money.

The two men fled along the alley after taking $49 in bills and scorning silver change. Police said the bandits answer description of a pair wanted in several recent holdups.

INTER-FEDERATION GROUP ASKS REASON BANKS STAY CLOSED

Resolution Wants Treasury to Explain Delay in Reopening of Some.

The Inter-Federation Conference last night unanimously adopted a resolution calling upon the Treasury Department to explain why a number of District banks remain closed. The conference designated its chairman, Stephen James, and the chairmen of the three associated federations to call at the Treasury Department and ascertain the facts regarding the local bank situation.

Delegates to the conference in a discussion preliminary to adoption of the resolution stated that the Treasury should set forth in clear terms exactly what closed banks must do in order to reopen. The committee of federation chairmen will ask Treasury officials to state which banks are solvent and which are insolvent.

Uniform Zoning Asked.

As soon as the committee obtains the facts and prepares a report a special meeting of the conference will be called to determine what further steps shall be taken.

The conference also adopted a resolution calling upon several agencies controlling zoning in the District, Montgomery County, Arlington County and Fairfax County to work out a coordinated and uniform system of zoning for the Washington metropolitan area. The report also will be made the subject of a special meeting probably next month.

Bridge Removal Sought.

Upon motion of Harry N. Stull the conference adopted the resolution urging the elimination of quota units in filling vacancies in Federal Government service.

The conference also adopted a resolution asking District and Virginia authorities to remove the abandoned bridge just west of Francis Scott Key Bridge.

Firemen Rout Swarm Of Bees at Residence

Those loyal laddies, whose major duties are the extinguishing of flames, drew a hot job yesterday, though no conflagration was involved. They were called to disperse a swarm of bees, clustered about their queen at the home of J. J. Gall, 1423 Fairmont street northwest. The police also were called. The swarm had chosen a drain pipe on the front of the house as the "settle down."

Engine Company, No. 11, under Battalion Chief C. C. McKay, handled the situation. With a well directed spray of water, the firemen finally succeeded in chasing the bees away. About 45 minutes were required for the job. There were about 300 casualties in the bee forces. The firemen escaped unscathed.

Catholic Students Hear Labor Chief

If capital and governments had followed the advice of the encyclical "Rerum Novarum" of Pope Leo XIII the world would not be in its present plight, Edward F. Grady, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor, said last night at Catholic University.

Speaking at a celebration conducted by the economic department commemorating the forty-first anniversary of encyclical of Pope Leo, the labor worker declared that if this Nation suffered a revolution, it would be one, as in the countries of Europe, incited by college and university students. He cited the large number of college trained persons who are unable to find work.

The capitalistic system, as it has been administered, he said, has caused mass poverty and human degradation, declaring that: "15,000,000 persons are alive only because they are fed by charity, and 14,000,000 school children are walking the streets because schools are closed."

Woman Member's Car Hit; Charge Withheld

George Merl Schaefer, 34, 3121 Mount Pleasant street northwest, was taken into custody by Tenth Precinct police last night for investigation in connection with a hit-and-run accident in which Representative Virginia E. Jenckes, of Indiana, was shaken up and her car damaged at Third street and Constitution avenue late yesterday. Schaefer was arrested on a broadcast lookout giving the license number of the car.

Mrs. Jenckes said she would not press charges.

Oxford Movement Described by Blake

Addresses by Howard Blake, Miss Margaret Bradley and A. L. Baldwin, local insurance man, featured a meeting of the Oxford group movement at the ShoreHam Hotel last night. More than 600 persons were present.

Mr. Blake, who is in charge of the group in Washington, described the movement as one of vital personal religion in the churches and colleges to make the principles of the New Testament practical in life today.

"Life changing on a colossal scale is the only answer for the world today," he declared.

The Oxford group movement is now active in 27 countries, Mr. Blake said. Talks were also made last night by Mrs. L. D. Bradley, of Boston; Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Evans, of Richmond, and Mrs. Willis Nolan, of Washington.

Elevator Man Elevated

House Office Building Attache Asks For and Gets Kentucky Colonelcy.

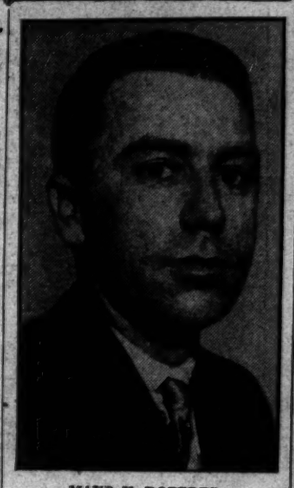
Mayo H. Roberts, who operates the congressional elevator in the House Office Building, henceforth should be addressed as "Colonel." He now has the credentials signifying he is a colonel in the old Blue Grass State, Kentucky, and a member of the staff of Gov. Ruby Laffoon.

Roberts is probably the first operator on Capitol Hill to become a Kentucky colonel. He asked for it and he got it, probably with less effort and politicking than is sometimes required.

Eighteen months ago, Roberts came to Washington from his home in Idabel, Okla., and started operating an elevator in the House Office Building through the good offices of Representative Wilburn C. Cartwright, of the Third Oklahoma District. He gained the friendship of the representative from Kentucky by his congenial manner. As a result the representative asked Roberts last week if he could do him any service.

"Yes, you can," Roberts replied. "I would like to obtain a Kentucky colonelcy."

Now he is a colonel, having obtained all that is officially needed for the position. However, he is too young for the goatee which a Kentucky colonel is generally depicted as having.



MAYO H. ROBERTS.

$500,000 PROPOSED TO IMPROVE ALLEYS

Two Rehabilitation Schemes Considered by Senate District Group.

Appropriation of $500,000 from the unexpended balance of the United States Housing Corporation to improve the condition of unsightly and insanitary District alleys, was urged on a special Senate District subcommittee yesterday.

The subcommittee will seek to weld two independent plans for meeting the inhabited alley problem into a single measure in time for a meeting of the full Senate District Committee at 2 p. m. today.

The original plan sponsored by the Park and Planning Commission contemplated acquisition of alley property and its rebuilding into model houses or garages to be resold by the Government.

A modified plan recommended yesterday by Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride, calls for conversion of existing alleys into minor streets by cutting through blind ends, and assessing part or the cost of improvements to abutting property. He urged against the District "going into the real estate business," but said he would have no objection to the Federal Government undertaking the project.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, said the two plans could easily be harmonized, and recommended that this be done.

At the suggestion of the subcommittee, comprising Senators Capper, of Kansas, and Austin, of Vermont (Republican), the two groups of officials were advised to draft one comprehensive plan.

Participating in the conference will be T. S. Settle, secretary of the Park and Planning Commission; John Nolen, city planner; Charles W. Eliot 2d, director of planning for the commission, and Corporation Counsel Bride, and Walter L. Fowler, his assistant.

Woman Slays Self In Second Attempt

Mrs. Marisa Bolden Knauff, 43 years old, of Glen Echo Heights, Md., succeeded in her second attempt at self-destruction yesterday. She had been ill for a long time and was despondent.

Mrs. Knauff first attempted to commit suicide by cutting her wrists early yesterday, but was prevented by quick action on the part of relatives. Yesterday afternoon she was found in her bedroom in an unconscious condition. According to police, she had taken poison.

Dr. E. G. Bauersfeld, of Bethesda, was called and he pronounced her dead and concurred in a certificate of death by suicide issued by Justice of the Peace Alfred Wilson.

SUPPLY MEN JOIN IN RENOVIZE DRIVE

Will Meet With Builders Today to Participate in Campaign.

After hearing an outline of the Renovize Washington campaign yesterday, a group of men representing the building and supply industries of the city decided to meet at 3 p. m. today to discuss plans for participation in the campaign.

E. J. Murphy was appointed temporary chairman of the building and supplies industries committee. Plans of the campaign were outlined by Arthur B. Heaton, general chairman of the Renovize Washington campaign committee, and Claude W. Owen, president of the Board of Trade, which is sponsoring the campaign.

Mr. Owen called attention to the need for a larger committee, if the purposes of the campaign are to be accomplished and said that the building and supply industries were felt to be logical ones to undertake formation of this larger committee. He called attention to the fact that approximately $15,000,000 of the more than $21,000,000 of work obtained in Philadelphia went to labor and that this money went back into circulation rapidly.

Mr. Heaton explained that the committee plans to obtain $5,000,000 of renovizing work here and cited that Kansas City, smaller numerically than Washington, obtained $6,000,000 worth of work. With $5,000,000 of renovizing work to do, there would be employment for 5,000 men for six months, he said. This, he said, would act as a relief measure for the charitable organizations, which are facing tremendous burdens.

W. W. Wheeler chairman of the publicity committee, stressed the value of the time element, stating that the renovising of the little house would be under way almost at once and that any plans should be made so as to take advantage of the many factors conected with this work.

Others present at the meeting were A. W. Lee, of A. W. Lee & Co.; J. G. Scharf, S. J. Prescott & Co.; E. A. Rule, mason contractor; J. R. Skinker, of Skinker & Garrett; W. F. Perry, Doubleday Hill Electrical Co.; W. W. Wheeler, Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.; A. F. Jorss, A. F. Jorss Iron Works; Harry Blake, Barber & Ros, Inc.; Henry W. Cord, H. W. Cord & Co., Inc.; Arthur May, F. P. May Hardware Co.; W. C. Miller, W. C. & A. N. Miller; J. H. Galliher, W. T. Galliher & Bro., Inc.; Frank Shipe, Asbestos Covering Co.; F. M. Tompkins, Charles H. Tompkins & Co., and Robert J. Cottrell, secretary, Board of Trade.

Police said the car was driven by Lenley Cox, 21, Silver Spring, Md.

TRAFFIC LIGHT PLAN IS JIG-SAW PUZZLE, LINCOLN PARK SAYS

Association Speakers Rap Failure of Regulation; Quiz Group Named.

Characterizing the traffic signal light situation, creation of excess boulevard streets and the general congested conditions of motor traffic in Washington as an enormous "jig saw puzzle," the Lincoln Park Citizens Association last night protested the failure of traffic regulators to alleviate conditions around Lincoln Park. Numerous other locations of traffic hazards were cited and a committee was appointed to investigate traffic conditions and suggest improvements.

Boulevard Remedy.

The association expressly stated that it was not against the elimination of $35,000 from the District budget which was to be used for traffic lights, but advocated some plan be initiated to direct traffic to other streets. It was cited that only on two streets was there a regulation barring certain types of vehicles from travel. The speakers contended that the excess number of boulevard streets has caused a centered traffic flow. It was stated that the only method used to eliminate this condition was a continuous placement of traffic lights on these boulevards, thereby driving traffic to other streets.

Kern Thanks Workers.

Citing one case, members of the association contended that if the thoroughfare entirely around Lincoln Park had been made "one way" a normal distribution of traffic would have been the result.

John P. Kern, president of the association, in speaking before the last assembly of the body before the summer recess, cited the many achievements of the association since its origin, and expressed gratitude for those who were responsible for its success.

Plans Are Opposed For Thomas Circle

Just as three years of controversy appeared at an end, Mrs. Theodore W. Noyes, president of the Garden Club of America, yesterday voiced objections to the National Park and Planning Commission's plan for altering Thomas Circle in conferences with Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, and Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, District Commissioner.

The Commissioners have not acted on the plan, though they are expected to approve it, but the utilities body and all other agencies concerned have registered approval.

Mrs. Noyes' principal objection to the change is that it provides for an oval rather than a circular parking strip in the center. The plan is designed to facilitate the movement of traffic by providing more space for vehicles and a more direct route for street cars. It is scheduled to be accomplished this summer.
